

THE LIVING TESTAMENT

The Old Testament is a compilation of accounts written by men and women who had personal encounters with Almighty God, angels, and other heavenly and earthly beings. These encounters occurred during the dispensation of the pre-Adamic, Adamic, and post-Adamic generations, in the period of the dimensional revelation of the knowledge and fear of God.

The New Testament is a compilation of accounts written by men and women who had personal encounters with Almighty God, angels, Jesus Christ (Emmanuel), and other heavenly and earthly beings. These encounters occurred during the dispensation of the old generation, in the period of the dimensional revelation of the counsel and might of God.

The entire canon of the Bible the 39 books of the Old Testament and the 27 books of the New Testament was selected and compiled by the Council of Nicaea, which recognized these books as inspired by God and authoritative for faith and life.

In like manner, a Living Testament will be written and compiled by various men and women who will have personal encounters with God, the Holy Spirit, angels, and other heavenly and earthly beings. This will occur during this present dispensation of the new generation, in the period of the dimensional revelation of the wisdom and understanding of God.

I am truly glad to be the first in this new category.

DEDICATION

This book is dedicated first and to the Almighty God the only God, Creator of the universe and all that is in it; the Lord of all who call on Him and the Savior of all who follow Him.

This book is passionately dedicated to the poor, the broken-hearted, the captive, and the prisoner, in every corner of the world.

This book is written specifically for all religionists, suicide bombers, and their victims across the globe. The blood of the innocent—the victims who never saw it coming—and the blood of the bombers themselves (who have been grievously taught that killing for God will grant them eternal rest) has reached its limit. For this reason, the Creator has filled me with wisdom and understanding to shed light upon this tragic misunderstanding for those who still teach and are being taught these outrageous ideologies.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

My profound gratitude goes first to my parents, whose vessel was made ready for my entrance into this world.

It is my utmost desire to acknowledge all those I have had the privilege to encounter. Even influences I perceived as negative were used to prune me into the person I am today and the better person I am becoming.

I also wish to sincerely thank everyone who contributed in any way to the editing, design, and publication of this book.

PRE-HISTORY & EVOLUTION

I present to you today a wisdom never before heard, seen, or conceived in the heart of man, offered here in a straightforward and simplified form. I implore you to be patient and to meditate humbly on these words. They are filled with a power capable of granting you a level of understanding that will transform you, elevating you to a greater dimension of what you ought to become.

I have little faith in what is written in religious books, for the heart of man has been corrupted from the very beginning. Therefore, total truth cannot be found solely by reading books, but only through inspiration from Almighty God via the Holy Spirit. The true, undiluted history of mankind resides solely in God. The earth bears only fragmentary evidence, while history and religious books present diluted, ethnocentric reports that propagate the idea that “MY” God is better than “YOUR” God.

From the beginning of time, all living things, including man, have passed through the process of evolution. Evolution is the creation and modification of energy through time. Man himself is a form of energy.

Both the pre-history (the undocumented past) and the history (the documented past) of humanity are essential. They enable us to attain a proper understanding of who the Creator is, the nature of the universe, and our own selves. This knowledge will grant us freedom from the sorts of theories that make us hate one another and engage in destructive activities which negatively affect our environment. It will give us the perfect insight needed to establish stronger relationships with each other and to gain a clearer glimpse of the future.

Everything about man has been turned upside down. This phenomenon has affected man's history, thereby creating a hazardous present and portending a catastrophic future. When man lost his authority, it gave room for confusion, pride, hatred, and other vices. But now, at last, man is rising—for the glory of God is rising upon him.

INTRODUCTION

THE CULTURE OF THE WORLD

From the moment just after your birth, your name, sect, religion, nationality, and many other identity parameters are decided for you. Thus, you may spend your entire life defending what you did not choose.

- Christians give birth to children, teach them their ways, and the children grow up to become Christians.
- Muslims give birth to children, teach them their ways, and the children grow up to become Muslims.
- Atheists give birth to children, teach them their ways, and the children grow up to become atheists.
- Buddhists give birth to children, teach them their ways, and the children grow up to become Buddhists.

This is the most common method of religious propagation.

Religion is a belief system—a set of moral rules and regulations passed from one generation to another. It is a culture, typically the product of a tribe or nationality. Spirituality is the real deal. It is the product of an intimate, personal pursuit to know and serve one's Creator. The pioneers of all religions were spiritual followers who sought this path. Spirituality is the alignment of man with the universe and with God.

Religion is the codified way of life of men who followed the spiritual path. As such, religion can be defined as a set of moral rules instituted and obeyed by a spiritual man within a particular dispensation and season. These men were later worshipped as gods after their deaths, and their way of life was turned into religion, immortalizing them in the subconscious of their followers and readers.

Through their spiritual pursuit, these men deduced universal laws from the environment. These laws helped align humanity with the world, making life easier and refreshing the environment during their era. Religious adherents, however, often hold firmly to these archaic ideologies, failing to accept the changes brought by deeper dimensions of wisdom and the geometric increase in knowledge that leads to clearer understanding.

The reality is this: the Creator fills everything He has made. Every person should seek to know their Creator within their own mind, for God is deeply embedded there. Religion is the belief accepted by someone who fails to search for God in the bedrock of his or her own consciousness. It should instead be a path that the not-yet-spiritual person follows in a bid to have a personal encounter with the Creator.

A person is not fully "saved" or enlightened until he or she ponders knowing God personally, apart from the teachings of parents and other agents of socialization. It is indeed possible to have a personal relationship with your Maker, precisely because you were not created under factory settings. You were distinctively, carefully, and wonderfully made, which means your Creator values a direct relationship with you.

Today, I speak to you—atheists, Buddhists, Christians, Muslims, and all religionists across the world. Your personal encounter and understanding of God is your key to righteous living, your assurance for survival and dominion in this life and the afterlife, for death is indeed not the end.

If your belief is merely a product of your parents, tribe, or nationality, pray, seek, and ask God your Creator to shed light on your path. Ask Him to reveal if you are already on the right path, and if not, to show you the path you should follow.

Today, you see many Christians carrying large Bibles, ringing bells, and clamoring the slogan “only Jesus saves” in the name of evangelism—yet they do not possess an iota of understanding of what they preach. All they know is that Jesus is the man who died on the cross, and out of fear of hell, they succumb to doctrines. On the other hand, you hear the clamor of many Muslims for Jihad, yet they do not have the slightest understanding of what Jihad truly represents. True evangelism is loving your neighbor as yourself, while true Jihad refers to holding firmly and defending your faith in love.

I have carefully written a brief description of the basic and vital information that will enable us to have a pure and deep understanding of who God is and what He expects us to know. No man has the right to judge you but can only present what he or she believes to be the truth, based on the source of his or her inspiration. This presentation can either shed light on your ignorance or cover up your premeditated understanding.

THE ALMIGHTY GOD

Over the years, many have attempted to understand, explain, and elucidate the nature of God. We must indeed acknowledge that they tried their best. Yet as time passed, their best became inadequate. Our understanding of God's nature can only improve as we see "in part," and a compilation of those parts gives a bigger, brighter, and clearer picture of a much deeper whole.

Identifying any matter begins with knowing its name and understanding its form. This provides a foundational knowledge of the subject under consideration.

The names and forms of God have been revealed to different people at different points in time, based on their dealings with God and aligned with His purpose for them. Thus, the name and form of God they knew were functions of their destiny and calling. With this understanding, it is safe to say we all perceive God from different perspectives, depending on our destiny and calling.

As for me, Luminous Oak, I have been privileged to receive what I believe is a concise revelation, given for what God wants to achieve in this particular time and season upon the earth—so that the knowledge of the glory of God will cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

No one has ever been granted the opportunity to see God with the physical eye; it is an impossibility. The capacity and capability of the human eye are insufficient to withstand His indescribable essence. In attempting to perceive it, the brain would lose its grip, rendering the mental and physical body invalid. Nevertheless, we can successfully see God with the eye of our mind, which is immortal—for only immortal faculties can behold immortal beings.

God Almighty is the source of all light (luminosity); by His light, He created all things. The image of Almighty God I was privileged to see is (generally) similar to that of a luminous tree touching a luminous sky in the middle of a luminous sea, all glowing brilliantly beyond comprehension.

Almighty God is a Being (Soul) who has a Spirit and is capable of manifesting in several forms (Body). His Being is an ocean without shores; His Form is (generally) that of a tree or any image He chooses to manifest; and His Spirit represents the radiating ripple of transcending light. In other words, Almighty God's Being is a glowing sea, His Form is a glowing tree, and His Spirit is the glowing nature that fills every space.

Almighty God (the Being) created a spirit and a multifaceted body. He gave Himself a form that can be visible, for His Being is invisibly beyond comprehension.

Almighty God is a Being—not just any being, but the Alpha Being, who is not created but who created all things. The question of who created God is unanswerable; our cranial capacity is not built with the ability to fathom the concept behind the very existence of Almighty God. The only appropriate definition I consider befitting is that God Almighty is beyond the word "existence," because He is the source of existence itself.

God is everything, and everything can be found in Him. Attempts to define God are merely ways of satisfying our curiosities—a rational pursuit, so that our belief stands not on mere words but on the evidence surrounding us. The entire universe defines who God is.

Curiosity is the trademark of every individual who seeks to understand the realities of this life in which we find ourselves. There are two channels of curiosity: the first is that of the body (heart), and the second is that of the soul (mind).

The curiosities of the body can be satisfied with evident knowledge, making use of the five main senses:

1. TO SEE: CAN A MORTAL EYE SEE GOD? YES.

See the ingenuity of God in the universe, earth, sky, sea, mountains, plants, animals, you and me...

2. TO FEEL: CAN A MORTAL BODY FEEL GOD? YES.

Feel the breeze, the warmth, and the cold...

3. TO TASTE: CAN A MORTAL TONGUE TASTE GOD? YES.

Taste the food the land brings forth; the fruits of different trees; the bitter, sweet, and sour...

4. TO SMELL: CAN A MORTAL NOSE PERCEIVE GOD? YES.

Smell the beautiful, different scents of flowers...

5. TO HEAR: CAN A MORTAL EAR HEAR GOD? YES.

Listen to everything: the sound of the breeze, the birds, your own voice...

On the other hand, the curiosities of the soul can be laid to rest with workable wisdom:

A. IS IT POSSIBLE FOR THE UNIVERSE TO JUST EXIST?

B. IS IT POSSIBLE FOR (YOU) TO JUST EXIST?

If yes, that means you and your universe are a mist that just appeared, which equally means you could disappear at any time. But since the universe has stood tall since the beginning of time and you do not vanish in the heat of the day, you are not a mist.

C. WHO THEN CAN CREATE SUCH A PERFECT, COMPLICATED BEING THAT CAN MOVE, BREATHE, EAT, EXCRETE, AND GROW BY ITSELF; THAT CAN PRODUCE SEEDS OF REPRODUCTION; THAT CAN KILL ITSELF OR BE KILLED; AND THAT WILL DECOMPOSE BY ITSELF UPON DEATH?

Only the greatest Scientist can.

D. EVERY SCIENTIST GOES TO SCHOOL TO STUDY THE ELEMENTS OF THE EARTH AND, UPON GRADUATION, USES THIS KNOWLEDGE TO CREATE THINGS. THE QUESTION IS: WHO CREATED THE ORIGINAL ELEMENTS OF THE EARTH THAT SCIENTISTS STUDIED?

The greatest Scientist.

Almighty God created you in His own image, after the likeness of His own being. This means that in merely looking at yourself, you are indeed looking at a reflection of God. It points to the fact that the only image appropriate for you to bow down to is the image you see in the mirror.

TRINITY (ALMIGHTY GOD)

Almost everything created by God is trigonometrically structured.

- The earth is composed of three major elements: air (O<sub>2</sub>), water (H<sub>2</sub>O), and sand (SiO<sub>2</sub>).
- The sun is a triune entity: it has the form of a great glowing ball (body) that produces light (soul) and emits heat (spirit).
- A tree is a triune plant: it consists of a root (soul), a shoot (body), and the water that flows between them (spirit).
- Man is a triune being: he consists of the inner being (soul), which lives in a human form (body), sustained by atmospheric air (spirit).

The Trinity simply refers to three integral parts forming one whole.

The Creator is a Being (Soul). Generally, the words "soul" and "spirit" are used interchangeably due to inadequate understanding; essentially, everything unseen to man is categorized as "spirit." However, only Almighty God is a Being (Soul) who possesses a Spirit. Other powerful beings may change form but do not possess their own spirit. Nevertheless, they—and all creation—are sustained by the One Only Spirit, which is the Spirit of Almighty God. Its radiation sustains everything that has been created.

Angels are beings, but since they are invisible to mortals, they are called ministering spirits. Beings are invisible to mortal eyes, for mortal eyes cannot behold immortal things. The only way we can perceive the Creator is with the eye of our mind, reflected in the mortal things that surround us.

Thus, people see Him as:

- The lion, for He is the King.
- The ox, for His great strength.
- The eagle, for His sovereign uniqueness.
- The sun, for it is the central force of our system.
- The moon, for its phases of faithful renewal.
- The stars, for their intricate, glorious beauty.
- Man, because, of all creation, he is directly linked—the express image and likeness, the very mirror of the Creator.

The abode of God's Being (Soul) is in the Creator's realm. Through His Spirit, He gives life—the sustaining source for all creation. Every living thing in the universe is a being of a particular category. Each has a different form (body), yet all are sustained by atmospheric air, which is powered by the Creator's Spirit. It is the very breath of the Creator that gives life to everything that exists.

THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN (THE CREATOR'S REALM)

The Kingdom of Heaven is the unseen—and inaccessible—part of the universe to those who perceive with the physical (mortal) eye. It is the seen and accessible realm to those who perceive with the spiritual (immortal) eye.

Heaven is a kingdom similar to Earth, but far vaster and more intricately structured. The beings who reside there possess forms of body uniquely adapted to the atmosphere of their realm.

In Heaven resides Almighty God, the Creator and King of Kings, who rules over the entire universe. There are also other kings (gods or elders) who govern specific zones. As in any kingdom, there are twenty-four distinct zones, each governed by its own ruler. These zones all contribute their part to the affairs of both Heaven and Earth, creating a marked diversity among the twenty-four regions in both realms. Each zone carries out specific tasks to ensure the administration of Heaven and the fulfillment of God's purposes on Earth.

Beings in this kingdom do not live in houses or mansions, but in estates. These estates are mountains—not thrones as we know them, but structures of an entirely different dimension that depict their occupant's power, dominion, and authority over a specific zone.

They do not live by time. The source of their light is the glowing image of God Himself, which transcends and fills every space. Their bodies are composed of stronger elements, allowing them to remain agile and live without the degradation caused by the passage of time; they grow, but they do so agelessly.

The kingdom is designed like a barracks filled with military personnel of varying ranks. They all carry out their responsibilities within their respective zones and habitations, both in Heaven and on Earth, ensuring that the dominion and authority of Almighty God are enforced throughout the heavenly and earthly spheres.

CHAPTER 4

THE CITIZENS OF HEAVEN

The Almighty, the only true God, created supernatural beings to serve as officials (elders) and workers (angels) in establishing His domain (kingdom) for His glory.

These beings were the agents who set up the entire universe, with Almighty God as the Master Architect. When God spoke, His creative power and divine desire entered these creatures through His Spirit, enabling them to carry out the bidding of the Most High accordingly.

Human souls (the sons of God) were created especially for God's pleasure. Of all heavenly creatures, they alone were made in the likeness of God. Though last in the order of creation, because of their divine nature and likeness, they are capable of carrying authority, thereby occupying an honorable position in Heaven (the immortal realm) before God.

All human souls are citizens of Heaven, belonging to one of twenty-four different kingdoms in an orderly fashion. They were sent to Earth to establish upon it the same structure that exists in Heaven. But when man fell, he lost his ability to articulate precisely what he was meant to do. He became unable to decipher his destiny and purpose—to understand what he ought to accomplish.

When man fell, he was demoted from the spiritual position of a son of God to the mortal position of a son of man. However, by aligning with the Holy Spirit, he will gradually re-enter his lost glory. Understanding will be granted unto him, allowing him to comprehend his destiny and fulfill his purpose—which is to do precisely what he is supposed to do on Earth.

PART 2

CHAPTER 5: HUMAN BEINGS

CHAPTER 6: TRINITY (HUMAN BEING)

CHAPTER 7: THE KINGDOM OF THE EARTH

CHAPTER 8: THE CITIZENS OF THE EARTH

CHAPTER 5

HUMAN BEINGS

The concept of a human being can be understood in two distinct yet related dimensions. The first is as a spiritual being (a son of God), created as a citizen of Heaven. The second is as an earthly being, given a physical body (a human being) to establish the will of God on Earth.

Of all the citizens in Heaven, only human souls were created in the likeness of Almighty God. The human soul is the mirror of God. The Creator endowed man with authority, which is the fullness of His Spirit. In man alone, the Spirit of God was able to dwell; in other beings, it only hovered upon them, sustaining and directing them in the fulfillment of their royal duties.

Other beings were not given this privilege, for they were created in a different image and likeness. This made them unable to carry the fullness of God's Spirit, though they are sustained by it. This implies that their power is specific to their assignments and is not absolute authority.

For humans to fulfill their task on Earth, they needed enormous physical and spiritual strength. Man was created with lesser physical strength compared to the pre-Adamic workers, but he was given a higher level of authority (spiritual strength) in order to effectively command them.

Man was assigned the task of caring for the entire Earth and establishing upon it a structure like the Kingdom of Heaven. Due to the nature of his mortal body, man needed a helper and a comforter to provide him with absolute support. He could not find one until God decided to create another form of man to serve this role. From the image and likeness of man, a woman was created. Thus, as man is to God, so woman is to man.

Therefore, man is the image and likeness of God, and woman is the image and likeness of man. The presence of the woman brought man profound pleasure because she was the express image of man himself. In the same way Almighty God gave authority to man, so man gave authority to woman—for the woman is the mirror of the man.

CHAPTER 6

TRINITY (HUMAN)

The trinity of man reflects his creation in the image and likeness of the Creator. A man is a being (soul) who lives in a particular form (body), sustained by the breath of life (spirit).

The soul of a man is the true, immortal self. The mortal body is an apparatus designed from the materials of the earth—sand, water, and air—to enable the soul to live and function in the earthly realm. The breath of life represents the sustaining atmosphere produced by the earth to continually fuel his body.

Man was originally created as a being with a spirit. This spirit caused his soul to be illuminated and his body to be revitalized. But when he fell through disobedience, the Spirit of God departed from him because he was no longer in alignment with God. The air in the atmosphere became his only alternative for survival; however, the healing and reparative capacity of air is not as potent as the indwelling presence of God's Spirit.

This understanding clarifies the notion held by some that "man is a spirit that has a soul and lives in a body." The truth is, a man who fully possesses the Spirit of God cannot die.

What happens when a man begins the path of salvation is that the Spirit of God comes upon him—it hovers over him but does not yet enter into him. Salvation is a process, not a one-time declaration of the mouth. Salvation is fully attained when all dimensions of God's Spirit reside inside the man. There are degrees to this indwelling.

True salvation occurs when a man has totally succumbed to the leading of the Holy Spirit, entering into deep communion (intercourse) with his Creator. It is only through this profound union that a man can be refilled with the Holy Spirit. This communion follows protocols of entry for the seed of God to be planted within man. That seed germinates, causing the man to be filled with the Spirit of God in such a way that his being is illuminated and his body is consistently revitalized, enabling him to elude death. This is the state we all strive to attain.

The degree to which God's Spirit indwells a man determines the immortality of his body (the soul is already immortal). Only the Spirit of God has the capacity to immortalize mortal flesh. Before the Fall, man was a being with a mortal body immortalized by God's Spirit. When the Spirit departed, he remained an immortal being inhabiting a demortalized (weakened) body.

CHAPTER 7

THE KINGDOM OF EARTH

We cannot speak of the kingdom of Earth without speaking of the universe. The universe is the entire kingdom, and Earth is the domain of humanity.

“Consider this: Almighty God is the universe, and the universe is God. We are all in God.”

The universe consists of the unseen (inaccessible) and the seen (accessible). It is widely known that the seen, accessible universe comprises the sun, the moon, the planets, stars, and other elements. The sun is the energy that keeps the seen universe in motion; the moon combines its energy with the sun’s to give balance, enabling life on Earth. Whether through man, nations, continents, or even if the entire Earth were turned into a spacecraft, we could never fathom the entirety of the universe—for Almighty God Himself is the space that fills all space.

The sun, the moon, the planets, and the stars are all found inside God. God is the universe.

A more detailed analysis of Earth’s creation, both complex and simple, is this: the sun and the moon birthed the Earth. The sun released a specific amount of energy in the form of cosmic particles. These combined with the energy of the moon, and the fusion of both energies brought forth the primary elements—hydrogen, oxygen, and silicon—along with other minor elements. This ascertains that the Earth was not created by chance, but through the perfect understanding of energy combinations, inspired by Almighty God and executed by His workers and laborers.

The parents of Earth—the sun and the moon—keep it alive by consistently replenishing its elements. A perfect recycling system operates continually, sustaining life on Earth and countering the persistent depletion caused by man. Over the years, man has waited for the day Earth will cease to exist, yet he has been disappointed. The greatest Scientist did a perfect job.

In the universe, there is one major invisible kingdom, several visible planets, and three minor visible kingdoms on Earth. The one major kingdom is subdivided into two: Light and Darkness.

The Kingdom of Light (Immortal Light) is headquartered in Heaven and has a division on Earth that rules over all human affairs on the principle of justice. The Kingdom of Darkness (Mortal Light) is the kingdom of the pre-Adamic beings; it judges the Earth on the basis of disobedience to the laws of righteousness.

The three minor kingdoms, in order of strength, are the Kingdom of the Air, the Kingdom of the Water, and the Kingdom of the Land. Each kingdom is ruled by an invisible king who appoints a visible personal assistant to manage its physical affairs. The king imbues this assistant with the authority to establish his dominion. Selah.

THE CITIZENS OF THE EARTH

Upon the successful creation of His heavenly kingdom, Almighty God decided to create another: the Earth. His Spirit began to hover upon a space in the universe, designing the architectural template for the new world. When the design was complete, He summoned the builders (workers, angels) and gave them bodies adapted to live in the earthly sphere.

The bodies of these builders (earth angels) can be described as half-man and half-animal. Their imbalanced structure meant they were not like the sons of God; they were lesser than man, yet filled with great knowledge and strength to fulfill their tasks.

These angels, given earthly bodies and recruited to build the Earth, are whom we call the Pre-Adamic beings. They were the first to inhabit the earthly sphere. Divided and appointed to the three minor kingdoms (air, water, land), they were given physical forms adapted to their domains. They went to work, successfully laying the foundations and structures of the Earth in all three kingdoms. Indeed, there are invisible foundations in the air, water, and land—the obscure secrets behind some of Earth's unfathomable wonders.

Filled with divine knowledge and power, these angels created different plants and animals. The terrestrial angels created land-dwelling plants and animals to beautify the land. The marine angels created sea life. The aerial angels created creatures that could fly. Plants and animals are products of Earth's elements, which are in turn sustained by the elements of the entire universe.

It was these Pre-Adamic beings who carried out God's instructions: they separated the waters from the land and established the continents. They were responsible for creating some of what we call the wonders of the world today, enabled by their profound knowledge of the Earth, their superhuman strength, and the empowering breath (Spirit) of the Almighty.

We call them "Pre-Adamic" because they came before Adam and were incomplete in form—half-man and half-animal.

The Creation and Fall of Man

After the successful creation of the Earth, the Pre-Adamic beings were tasked with creating human bodies. Inspired, they created the form of a complete man. Then, through the divine breath of God's Spirit, the souls of the sons of God were released into these earthly vessels. The son of God was implanted, pure and perfect, into the body, and given authority over all creation—including the very Pre-Adamic beings who had crafted his physical form. They became his servants, tasked with helping man fulfill God's command: to increase, multiply, replenish, subdue, and have dominion.

Almighty God gave man one singular commandment: to enjoy everything that had been created, but not to have sexual intercourse with the servants, for they were not a pure breed. (tree of life & tree of knowledge)

The Pre-Adamic man was visible to the Adamic man, who ruled successfully over the land, water, and air. By the knowledge given to them, the Pre-Adamic beings taught man how to name the plants and animals they had created—for though they had the knowledge to create, they did not have the authority to name.

Over time, the chief of the Pre-Adamic beings grew conceited and rebelled in his heart against man. He thought, 'Was I not the one who created his body? Why then must I serve him?' Since the Adamic man had authority, he ruled over them effortlessly. The chief angel inspired the others with his rebellious thoughts, and they sought a way to make man lose his authority. THIS IS THE ORIGIN OF THE FALL OF BOTH PRE-ADAMIC AND ADAMIC MAN.

The Consequences of the Fall

Their rebellion succeeded when Adam disobeyed God. This caused the sealing Spirit of God to depart from man. Gradually, man became deficient in God's Spirit, then void of it entirely, leaving him weak and living at the mercy of the Pre-Adamic beings, who now ruled him viciously with their knowledge.

Almighty God, the Creator and Father of man, was grieved. He cursed the Pre-Adamic beings for the torment they inflicted upon His sons. Then God wiped them out with a flood, leading to their total disappearance from the Earth's surface. God created the Post-Adamic man, blessed him, and commissioned him to begin the path of regaining the dimensions of the lost Spirit—to be refilled and sealed with authority once more.

The Spiritual Aftermath and Modern Oppression

The death of the Pre-Adamic beings led to the loss of their bodies, but not their souls—for they too were immortal. Their souls were left wandering the invisible kingdoms of water, land, and air, seeking means of expression through the human body in the visible realm.

They became the rulers of the underworld (the invisible realm of Earth). When a man dies, his soul is judged and held captive by these beings. After his sentence is served, his soul is restored to the physical realm through reincarnation when a new body is prepared during conception. A fallen Pre-Adamic being from the underworld accompanies this reincarnated soul—which lacks mature willpower—into the womb, possessing the child from birth.

Another way these beings find expression is through unholy interaction with humans. They inspire humans in dreams or through evil invocations to create bodies for them. The results are the beings scientists call aliens. When these aliens copulate with man, they birth giants.

The Battle for the Human Will

As a person grows, his or her willpower develops and matures. It is their desire to choose between right and wrong. Each time a person disobeys the Spirit of God, they unconsciously surrender a measure of their willpower, leaving the door of the soul vulnerable. The Spirit of God hovers upon us all as conscience, trying to shield us from evil oppression and possession. When we disobey, we move away from that shield and can become possessed by the very being that inspired our disobedience. It is indeed possible for two beings to dwell in one body.

THIS REVELATION IS THE SECRET BEHIND PSYCHIATRIC PROBLEMS AND ALL SORTS OF IRRATIONAL BEHAVIOR EXHIBITED BY MANKIND. A HUMAN SOUL IS UNINTELLIGENT AND CANNOT ACHIEVE ANYTHING UNLESS IT IS INSPIRED AND LED BY THE SPIRIT OF GOD OR BY THE PRE-ADAMIC BEINGS (THE FALLEN ANGELS). THIS INFORMATION IS THE KEY TO ALL TRUE EXORCISM AND DELIVERANCE.

The Universal Connection

All living things (plants and animals) are connected to the universe—the sun, moon, planets, stars, and other elements. All living things are one with the universe. The combination of these elements creates attractions between living things, such that if they are properly analyzed, traces of every cosmic element would be found within them. This is the knowledge linking human behavior to astrology.

CHAPTER 9

THE DESTINY AND PURPOSE OF MAN

Destiny represents the major, overarching agenda. Purpose represents the collection of minor agendas that culminate in the fulfillment of that destiny.

The destiny of man is to have dominion over the Earth, establishing its kingdom in a form similar to Heaven—the realm of Almighty God. The purpose of man is to increase, multiply, subdue, and replenish the Earth.

To increase and multiply refers to humanity's interaction with the environment to bring about productivity. This is epitomized when a man and a woman come together to produce offspring after their own kind.

Sexual intercourse is the spiritual principle for producing a body and summoning a soul into the earthly sphere—souls that come from either Heaven or the underworld. God is the Creator of the human soul, but a man and a woman possess the biological formula that initiates the formation of a body. When they unite, the process of physical creation begins. Upon reaching a point of maturity, a soul is implanted into the body and sustained by the same breath of life that sustains the mother.

To subdue and replenish means humanity must unite in acquiring the knowledge that leads to a true understanding of the Earth. This understanding enables subduing. Furthermore, humanity must join hands to do what is necessary, which brings about replenishing.

Without increasing and multiplying, we cannot subdue and replenish—let alone fulfill our destiny of having dominion and replicating the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth.

Presently, the newest and most urgent purpose of man is to walk and work on the path of regaining the full dimensions of God's Spirit that were lost. This is a bid to possess the Seal—the crown of authority—upon man once more. This authority will grant him dominion over the Pre-Adamic beings, both in the physical world and the underworld, calling them back to their original order. Without the obedience of these earthly servants, we cannot truly fulfill our destiny.

THE FALL OF MAN

The Rebellion of the Pre-Adamic Beings

The Pre-Adamic beings grew conceited and rebelled against Adam. They desired to disobey his command, but since Adam held authority, they had no choice but to do his bidding. They began to search for a way to make Adam lose his authority. This is the origin of the fall of the Pre-Adamic beings—the fallen angels. By rebelling against man, they indirectly rebelled against God. Consequently, they lost access to God’s presence, for through their rebellion they lost the ability to stand before Him, which was granted by the enabling power of the Holy Spirit.

To fall spiritually does not mean to fall from the sky, but from a position of relevance to a position of irrelevance. This clarifies the notion of “fallen angels falling from the sky.”

The Plan Against Humanity

The moment the chief Pre-Adamic being began to despise Adam in his mind was the moment he began to lose the ability to fellowship with God. Rebellion started in his thoughts. He eventually led a revolt with other Pre-Adamic beings against Adam's authority.

As man's teacher, the chief Pre-Adamic being planned his revolution. He decided to use his knowledge to lead man to rebel against God, knowing full well that the consequence of disobedience would be the withdrawal of man's authority. Without dominion, the Adamic man would become weak, unable to understand his destiny or fulfill his purpose. Understanding purpose is power; knowing destiny is commanding authority.

The Deception of the Woman

Their plan was to attack the perceived weaker vessel: the woman, using the only power they possessed—knowledge (specifically, the teaching of error). With this knowledge, the chief angel deceived the woman into copulating with him. He told her it would make her more powerful than the man. This thought sponsored jealousy in her heart; she momentarily desired equality with man. The woman complied, and the seed of the Pre-Adamic being was planted within her. From that moment, she was controlled—both unconsciously and consciously—by this seed of corruption.

As a result of her rebellion against the divine order, the seal of her authority (her willpower) was withdrawn from her. This gave the chief Pre-Adamic being the opportunity to possess and control her.

The Deception of the Man

The chief Pre-Adamic being then used the possessed woman to deceive the man. Through her mouth, he repeated the lie: “If you want to be as powerful as God, copulate with a Pre-Adamic being. God forbade it because He knew it would make you powerful and independent.” This idea sponsored thoughts of pride and a desire for position; man now wanted equality with God.

Unaware of what the woman had done or that she was now possessed, the man fell for the deceit. He too lost his crown. The consequence was that man also lost his willpower, becoming a slave to the chief Pre-Adamic being. The positions were switched: the lesser beings now ruled their former master.

The Aftermath and Loss of Fellowship

When Almighty God came to fellowship with man through His Spirit, man did not go to the usual meeting place. He believed himself to be greater than God, feeling strengthened in his own mind. God was grieved by this. He revoked the Pre-Adamic beings' access to His presence by withdrawing His Spirit from them completely. They were no longer inspired, left only with the knowledge they had already been given.

Knowledge vs. Wisdom: The Key to Restoration

Knowledge is powerful, but wisdom is more powerful, for it updates and applies knowledge. Wisdom is supplied by God through the Holy Spirit.

A man with wisdom rules over mere knowledge.

This is the key to defeating the Pre-Adamic beings of the underworld. The gates are closed for the Pre-Adamic man, but the gate for the Adamic man (the son of God) remains open. There is hope for revival.

The Birth of Giants and the Present Age

The woman was later found with child, as was the Pre-Adamic being with whom the Adamic man had lain. The Adamic woman gave birth to two beings in one body—a giant (Cain). The Pre-Adamic woman gave birth to a lesser giant (Abel), as the seed of the Adamic man was not as strong. In time, the stronger giant (Cain) killed the weaker (Abel). Instability spread across the Earth as giants multiplied.

With knowledge, the Pre-Adamic beings from the underworld have ruled over the Earth and all its creatures, including man. Using the tools of deceit and disunity, they have consistently distracted the Adamic man from pursuing the path to regain his position and fulfill his destiny. This is why you will never find true peace on Earth. Where there is peace, man seeks to know God. The result would be continuous fellowship with God's Spirit, filling him with the wisdom necessary to restore man to authority and return the fallen angels to their position as servants.

CHAPTER 11

THE PATH OF RESTORATION

Restoration also means ascension. We cannot understand the concept of restoration without addressing the effects of the Fall: the loss of authority and the advent of physical death.

Everything in the universe is sustained by alignment. Any form of misalignment causes death—which is not an end, but leads to a change of state and a rebirth.

Through history and science, we have learned that energy is neither created nor destroyed, only transformed. Similarly, both science and religion show us that life continues forever in different forms. Time and seasons determine only the beginning and end of particular phases in human generations and dispensations.

In the beginning, the Creator established the sun, the moon, and the Earth. Their oscillation determines time and season on Earth. Humanity was introduced later, and we can boldly say that time rules over human affairs.

When God created man, He used earthly elements to form him and placed His Spirit inside him. This caused the glory of God—the fullness of the Almighty's Spirit, which is authority—to rest upon him. The purpose of this indwelling was twofold: to impart wisdom for the continual replenishment of the elements of the human body, and to enable a relationship with God as intimate as that between humans.

Every earthly element has its own timeline of death and regeneration. When man lost his authority (his crown), the glory of God (His Spirit) could no longer rest upon him. Consequently, the elements of his body could not be replenished, and man began to experience pain, sickness, and eventually death. Man suffered the same fate as plants and animals: death, then regeneration. When the Spirit of God came in the cool of the day to replenish mortal bodies, it could no longer rest upon man due to his lost authority. It could only hover over him, providing a degree of inspiration for how to live, manage himself, and use herbs (the knowledge of medicine) for revitalization. Over the years, the Spirit of God has hovered over humanity, inspiring and guiding us on the path to ascend back to our rightful position.

Dispensations: The Ladder of Time

Almighty God established His kingdom upon justice, which is a form of righteousness. Since man rebelled by wanting to be like God, he faced judgment. Yet, because man was ignorant and deceived, God provided a way of redemption. He set up a path—a chain or ladder—by which His sons could arise from the bottomless pit of their fallen state. This ascent is a function of set times, encompassing several dispensations and generations, to reach the top of the chain: the position of authority.

Time and seasons birth dispensations on Earth. Dispensations distinguish different periods, each directly affecting humanity, especially through the increase of knowledge and a deeper revelation of God's Spirit as human cranial capacity is maximized.

Dispensation began at the dawn of creation, set in motion with the establishment of the sun, moon, and Earth. The Earth and its living components have undergone many dispensations. For man to regain his lost position, he had to go through a developmental process divided into these ages.

Therefore, we can say that a dispensation is the cumulative timeline of generations that fulfills God's path for man's restoration, while generations are the seasons within a dispensation during which man strives to ascend.

The New Dispensation

A new dispensation emerged on January 20/21, 2019. The total lunar eclipse visible around the world was a mark signifying this transition. It signified the end of one dispensation and the beginning of another, heralding a new generation—a rebirth of the entire earthly system, which was then initiated by the coronavirus epidemic outbreak in the twin year 2020.

Not all eclipses are dispensational marks, but this one was indeed a sign for those aligned with nature. We have now entered the last and final dispensation—the path that will launch us to reclaim our authority.

The Three Dimensions of Restoration

When man lost the personal infilling of the Holy Spirit, Almighty God created a path to regain what was lost. The path involves filling man with the different dimensions of His Spirit, one in its proper order.

- 1. The Dimension of the Fear and Knowledge of God: Initiated through Abraham/Prophet

Ibrahim (PBUH) and spearheaded by Moses/Prophet Musa (PBUH).

2. The Dimension of the Counsel and Might of God: Initiated through the prophets and carried out by Emmanuel/Prophet Isa (Jesus) (PBUH).

3. The Dimension of the Wisdom and Understanding of God: Initiated by the apostles and other documented and undocumented laborers throughout time, and now to be spearheaded by the person of the Holy Spirit through His anointed ones.

When man fell, he gradually lost the dimensions of God's Spirit bit by bit. To be restored, he must regain them, one after the other.

LUMINOSITY

Luminosity, in the context of restoration, refers to the infilling of all dimensions of God's Spirit in man. This enables one to receive the glory of God, which is the Holy Spirit in its fullness—that is, authority.

The Spirit of God is one, yet manifests in seven dimensions: the spirit of wisdom, understanding, counsel, might, knowledge, the fear of the Lord, and authority. All six preceding dimensions rest upon the seventh and most important: authority. Authority determines the potency of all other dimensions.

When man fell, he first lost this potency. In his state of continual staggering, he then lost all six dimensions, tumbling down the ladder into the bottomless pit of order.

Order refers to the sequence of creation—the position of all created beings before God. Authority grants you access to God's presence; the lack of it keeps you in the outer courts. The fullness of God's Spirit is the power that ushers you into the sacred, and most sacred, presence of God.

Man was originally a being with an illuminated soul, filled with the Spirit of his Creator (authority). This enabled him to live through time, conquering the weakness and decay brought about by the depreciating elements of the body as a function of time and space.

Adam lived 930 years, Methuselah lived 969 years, and many others lived in a state of “mortal immortality,” as they still retained a dimension of God’s Spirit. Man was not created to die, but to live forever doing the will of the Creator. As a result of the Fall, man began to die, unknowingly (and later knowingly) doing the will of the accuser in a bid to avoid the ruler’s rod: hunger, toil, pain, frustration, and warfare.

Over time, man has fought to retake his lost glory. But with incomplete understanding fostered by religion, he has repeated the same cycles, remaining stagnant instead of evolving.

Fallen angels, Pre-Adamic beings, rulers, principalities, powers, and demons have infiltrated the roots of various religions to alter the truth, preventing humanity from evolving and keeping it in a steady state of oscillation—confusion.

This is precisely why, at the beginning of this book, I declared that I do not trust any book written or compiled by man, but depend solely on the Spirit of God for inspiration. The knowledge in this book was revealed to me through mercy (provided by the knowledge and fear of God), grace (provided by the counsel and might of God), and love (provided by the wisdom and understanding of God). I contended for this revelation through torment from Pre-Adamic beings. My devoted consistency and unwavering persistence enabled me to possess the lost books from which I write these deep truths. I therefore challenge you to contend for the authenticity of this information—to validate it through deep consideration rather than accepting or rejecting it outright.

The New Wine of This Age

These are the last days in which we will walk to retake our lost glory. The Spirit of the Almighty is pouring upon us the dimension of the wisdom and understanding of God. This will cause us to walk in authority, enabling us to dispossess the accuser and repossess our crown—the power and authority to take control of the visible and invisible Earth that was taken from us.

Let us not hurry, for we are of the last dispensation and generation that will climb the final portion of the ladder—the path of restoration—to return man to his rightful place: communion with our Maker.

We cannot achieve this unless we view religion as a mere path leading into the realm of spirituality. We must tread the path of restoration led by the Holy Spirit, void of any covetousness for power, but filled with the love that desires to see the glory of God cover the Earth as the waters cover the sea. This is the key to the sustainable development goals we have considered impossible to attain, both physically and spiritually. When every human being is happy and comfortable, then Almighty God will be able to move freely in the midst of His sons.

The dimension of God's Spirit brought through Moses was a wine that nourished the human race for a time. Its benefits were established, and a degree of enlightenment was attained. The dimension brought through Emmanuel (Jesus) was a new wine that many could not receive because they clung to the former wine. Our souls are wineskins, and the dimensions of God's Spirit are like wine poured into them. To receive the new wine, we must digest the previous wine and prepare our wineskins for what is about to be poured into us.

Various religions offer us different forms of old wine. We must be careful to differentiate between the real wine and the corrupted wine.

Luminosity, therefore, is the infilling of all dimensions of God's Spirit in man. It allows him to fully receive the weight of God's glory, causing his soul to be illuminated and his body to be consistently and spontaneously revitalized.

So I pray in the name of Almighty God—our Creator, Lord, and Savior—that His will be done in our lives. May we receive the wine of this dispensation and generation, which will finally position us in deep communion with our Creator. And may any corrupted wine we have received be purged from us by the refining fire of God's mercy, grace, and love.

PART 4: CLOSING CHAPTERS

CHAPTER 13: DOMINION

CHAPTER 14: CONQUERING YOUR DEMON

CHAPTER 15: TAKING DOMINION

CHAPTER 13

DOMINION

I trust you have been blessed by the concise, deep, and divine revelations contained in every chapter of this book, which have graced your body and soul. It is my solemn prayer that we all be freed from every form of possession and oppression, so we may be fully able to fulfill the will of God for our lives.

Chapters 13, 14, and 15 are the point where we exercise the reality of all we have learned. What is the purpose of knowledge if we cannot put it to use?

Dominion refers to having absolute control over oneself and one's immediate environment. It means possessing the authority to govern one's life and surroundings. When Almighty God created man, He gave him an instruction wrapped in the form of a blessing: to increase, multiply, subdue, replenish, and have dominion over himself and all creation. This command was backed by the assistance of personal assistants—the builders of the Earth, the Pre-Adamic beings, the earth angels.

Man ruled successfully. He increased and multiplied. He subdued and replenished the environment. He exercised dominion throughout the length and breadth of the Earth with their help. But when the builders rebelled in their hearts against man and God, they deceitfully led man into rebellion as well. In doing so, they gained the advantage, causing man to lose his authority—the wisdom that was based on his obedience and alignment to Almighty God.

Immediately, man was subdued and ruled over by the Pre-Adamic beings. Their positions were switched: the Pre-Adamic became the master, and the Adamic man became the personal slave. With their enormous knowledge, the Pre-Adamic beings have kept humanity in bondage from time immemorial. Having lost his connection to wisdom, man had no control over knowledge and could not attain understanding—the essential formula for exercising dominion. From that point until now, man has struggled to reposition himself for authority, but he has been robbed of the truth through omissions in history and the high level of deception sown into the available record.

Now, through the Spirit of Almighty God that inspires us, we are back on track to fully take dominion. We regain our authority through absolute obedience to God's will, made possible by the revelations on every page of this book.

Knowledge is paramount. Consider this parable:

A rich man had many slaves working his vineyard and only one biological child, who was still an infant. Upon the rich man's death, the head servant quickly assembled the others and revealed his plan to take over the entire property. "How can this be?" the other slaves asked. The head servant replied, "The young child is unaware of anything. He will grow up to be our slave because he knows nothing of who he is or who we are. Whatever story we tell him of his origin will be the one he believes."

CHAPTER 14

CONQUERING YOUR DEMON

We have learned from this book that there are two categories of angels: those created to live in Heaven with the Creator (in the Kingdom of God), and those created to live on Earth with humanity (in the kingdom of man). Both categories were created to serve as messengers in their respective realms.

Due to a lack of adequate understanding, we have believed that the angels of the Earth are "fallen angels" who fell from the sky and possess men to destroy them. I have come to tell you that no angel fell from the sky, but from the spiritual presence of God. And yes, they do possess, oppress, and control men to carry out their bidding, which is contrary to God's original will.

Many ministries have been established to administer deliverance and free people from these so-called demons. However, due to a lack of appropriate knowledge and adequate understanding, they have often caused more harm than good.

It is widely said that people perish for lack of knowledge. If this is true, then we shall live gloriously by possessing an adequate level of knowledge. True deliverance begins with wisdom; then knowledge and understanding will help you reach your goal.

- Wisdom is knowing that the chief spiritual possessor of your soul is the very earth angel originally appointed by the Creator to be your personal assistant. The various other oppressors are wandering earth beings that gained access into you through your interaction with elements that contain them—such as specific places, food, or people.
- Knowledge reveals that knowing this truth will set you free. It is knowing that the Fall of man caused a switching of roles, and it gives you the ability to identify both the chief oppressor (your former assistant) and the other wandering beings you have consciously or unconsciously allowed into your life.
- Understanding enables you to align with your Creator to receive wisdom—a form of light. This light exposes the work of the chief oppressor and the operations of the wandering beings in your life. With this same light, through precise proclamations, you gradually regain your position of authority over them.

CHAPTER 15

TAKING DOMINION

Every person is assigned a Pre-Adamic being to assist in fulfilling their destiny. These beings were created to be servants to humanity, but due to the Fall and humanity's lack of knowledge, they now rule over humans.

The rebellion of the Pre-Adamic beings against God, and humanity's subsequent rebellion, caused man's authority to be revoked, leaving humans at the mercy of their former servants. Understanding this revelation—that Pre-Adamic beings, demons, jinn, and principalities are meant to be subject to us—is the first step to taking back authority from your possessors and oppressors.

You cannot take dominion over your environment until you first take dominion over yourself from these spiritual entities. In clear terms, you must first be delivered from their hold. Then, you must contest and wrestle with them (an immortal-mortal combat) to rule over them using the staff of wisdom.

Humans were created with the physical and mental ability to increase and multiply, but not with the innate physical power to subdue, replenish, and have dominion. However, with the wisdom God provides—which is used to command the Pre-Adamic beings who possess knowledge and strength—you will be able to subdue, replenish, and exercise dominion over all creation.

Confessions, repetitive declarations, and proclamations are spiritual keys for achieving our God-aligned desires in the spiritual realm. After acquiring the knowledge of your true identity in the order of creation, the next step is to make personal, declarative confessions. This strengthens and frees you from possession and oppression, restoring you to a position of authority and total dominion over your life and surroundings.

CONFESSIONS FOR TAKING DOMINION

1. REALIGNMENT FOR WISDOM

My Creator, I come to You with my soul, my body, and my entire being. I ask that You be the God and Lord over my life.

Instruction: Proclaim this daily at a set time. Repeat it until it is registered in your subconscious, to the point where your mind repeats it even in sleep. Continue until you feel a deep conviction, indicated by an unexplainable peace in your mind. This confession realigns you with your Creator for the supply of wisdom at the point of need.

2. SUBMISSION FOR KNOWLEDGE

My Creator, I totally submit all of myself to You. Fill me with Your Spirit so I may know the purpose for which You created me.

Instruction: Upon completing the first stage, begin this second proclamation in the same manner. Continue until you feel conviction, indicated by a revelation in the form of a dream or vision, bringing intensified peace and heightened calmness to your mind. This is evidence of your connection with the Kingdom of God. This confession builds your mental capacity to receive knowledge about your root, family tree, being, and surroundings.

3. RECLAMATION OF AUTHORITY

I arise in the name of the Lord my God to take back the authority that I lost, consciously and unconsciously.

Instruction: After completing the second stage, begin this third proclamation similarly. Continue until conviction comes, indicated by revelatory dreams or visions in which you are repeatedly fighting spiritual battles. This is a confession that calls you to the battleground, to use the spiritual weapons you have acquired to challenge every possessing and oppressing power.

4. COMMITMENT TO PURPOSE

I arise in the power of my destiny to establish the will of God on Earth.

Instruction: After the third stage, begin this fourth proclamation. This is a lifelong practice. You will be inspired daily, weekly, monthly, and yearly on how to proceed. This inspiration will be accompanied by energy transformed into your body as power and peace, enabling you to do all that is required. This confession reaffirms your commitment to the will and service of the Creator.

5. INTERCESSION FOR HUMANITY

I intercede for the entire human race You have created. Show forth Your mercy to them in all ramifications, that they too may be saved and liberated from oppression.

Instruction: A proclamation of divine love. This is the key to unlocking national, continental, and global spiritual energy—the power for overcoming all territorial forces of darkness.

PREFACE

I trust you have read the first book, Luminosity, which seeks to impart a general understanding—bridging the gap between religion and spirituality—while revealing the essence of life in order to shed light on the past, present, and future of the human race.

Unless a seed falls to the ground, it remains alone. But once in the ground, a process of interaction begins: the outer seed coat decays, and the embryo emerges. In the same way, every person is like a seed that must fall to the ground—the Spirit of God—so it can emerge as a shoot with the capacity to become a tall, mighty, and luminous tree.

Now, sit back and open yourself to the new wine that is about to be given to you. The first book has already prepared your wineskin to receive it.

Above all, test every spirit, for the Spirit Himself bears witness to the words He inspires.

INTRODUCTION

LOVE

LOVE IS A FUNCTION OF RELATIONSHIP, COURTSHIP, AND PARTNERSHIP.

Love is the most powerful force in the universe; it is the mother of all forces. Love has several dimensions, which may seem distant from its purpose, but the reality is that there are always two sides to a coin: we cannot know light if there is no darkness.

The Earth in which we live is created from one major element: Love. In simple terms, this element is referred to as Light. From Light we derive oxygen (air); combined with hydrogen it becomes water; and when silicon and oxygen combine, we get sand.

Every living thing that inhabits the Earth is composed of this dominant element—Love—which means all are ultimately governed by it.

Human beings occupy a unique status in the hierarchy of living things. The human body is made of sand and water, and is kept alive by the air we breathe. But the most significant feature of man is his soul. The soul is composed of particles from the stars—a knowledge that makes human behavior a mystery, selectively illuminated by astrology.

Love (destiny) resides in the soul, constantly given meaning by the movement of the stars. It is vital to note that the soul is given form by the body (affection). Therefore, any person who claims to be in love must first inquire of the soul before considering the body, because the body should influence—but not dominate—the decisions of the soul.

Over time, in choosing marriage partners, humans have prioritized the body (affection) over the soul, creating a world of affection void of true love.

Affection lies in our emotions, led by the body (the heart). Since our emotions change over time, we often fail to fulfill what we set out to achieve. Love, however, resides in the soul (the mind). It is an energy that seeks to draw good from creation; whatever love begins, it finishes, because the soul contains more than enough energy to start and complete any worthy endeavor.

The root of evil in our society today stems from being controlled by the body (affection) rather than the soul (love). In the struggle for survival and in adherence to culture and religion, many of us have lost touch with our souls.

Our soul should dictate our decisions, because the body is led by emotions—like a gas that vanishes into thin air. The soul, however, is consistently energized by the universe, the movement of the planets, and the surrounding stars. Affection is not love but lust—a feeling controlled by the five senses and subject to time and season. Love is the ruler of time and season.

True love is the ability to align with the universe. The universe constitutes the solar system, stars, animals, and we “higher animals.”

Alignment refers to the connection between human beings, animals, the environment (Earth), and the greater environment (universe). Before alignment can be attained, there must be relationship (knowledge), courtship (understanding), and partnership (wisdom).

The first alignment man must pursue is with his fellow human being. If man is not successfully aligned with his neighbor, how can he align with animals, the Earth, and the universe? Alignment with others is based on knowledge, coupled with the understanding that “two heads are better than one.” Wisdom teaches that without unity there is no progress. It is in joining hands that we can increase, multiply, subdue, and replenish the environment.

Love takes a new and powerful turn when it involves two opposite yet similar souls (male and female). The connection of two souls is the strongest invisible energy in the world. Love at first sight can be reality or illusion, depending on whether judgment arises from the soul or the body. Judgment from the soul is true and just; judgment from the body is untrue and unjust, unable to withstand the test of time.

When a man and a woman meet, they may or may not feel attraction. If attracted, they begin a journey by establishing a relationship, which leads to courtship, and finally partnership.

RELATIONSHIP

Relationship (knowledge) is the coming together of two similar yet different people, drawn by characteristics in the other that they admire or lack. Relationship is seldom based on the soul initially, but typically on the body. While the body attracts faster, that attraction does not last. The soul's attractive force is slower but stronger, enduring longer.

Those attuned to the rhythm of the soul can detect a soulmate at first sight. Those who are not must rely on the second law of attraction: that of the body (the five senses).

Challenges arise when both parties are deaf to the soul's call, establishing a relationship that cannot last. Once the five senses are satisfied, interest evaporates.

Relationship is the acquisition of adequate knowledge to truly know a person inside and out. With this knowledge, you can navigate smoothly. Just as a concise conversation requires enough knowledge to maintain relatability, two people in love must understand each other's personalities so their attitudes do not clash, allowing them to operate on a level playing field.

Acquiring knowledge takes time; it involves paying attention to the other's reactions moment by moment. Here, both parties learn each other's behavioral patterns—as consistent as the sunrise and sunset. This knowledge is the power that pushes the relationship to the next level: courtship.

COURTSHIP

Courtship (understanding) builds upon successful bonding in the relationship stage. It is attained when both parties fully understand one another to the point where “the sun allows the moon to shine, and the moon allows the sun to shine.” This means each recognizes what the other can and cannot do, creating mutual complementarity.

At this level, a deeper understanding emerges, and alignment begins. Just as you must understand an element’s composition to know what mixes well with it, so must partners understand each other’s core nature.

A relationship based on affection alone may reach the courtship level if both parties maintain a sense of unpredictability, keeping each other in suspense. However, one misstep can unravel everything. Only obedience to the principle of alignment provides a clear path into the final stage: partnership.

PARTNERSHIP

Partnership (wisdom/marriage) is founded on the successful completion of the two preceding stages. Here, both parties align so completely that “the sun and moon enter into one another,” creating an eclipse. They shine simultaneously, generating an energy that replenishes each other.

The sole purpose of partnership is dominion—a state of perfection. Successful partnerships in family and community lead to subduing, replenishing, increasing, and multiplying, resulting in dominion over their environment. This enables them to live in peace, unity, and positive progress.

SEXUAL INTERCOURSE

Marriage is the union of a man and a woman, achieved through sexual intercourse. Intercourse itself is marriage—a union and combination of two sexes. When two soulmates unite, a great amount of positive energy is generated, and any child born is of pure origin. When two people who are not soulmates unite, the opposite occurs: negative energy is emitted, and the fruit of their union is not pure.

SEEDS & FRUIT

A man's seed is the sperm; a woman's womb is the soil. The type of seed sown is as important as the soil into which it is sown. The quality of the seed depends on the source of the union: if it originates from the soul, the seed is perfect; if from mere affection, the seed is imperfect, sown into incompatible soil.

An imperfect fruit may grow into a misfit unless he or she strives toward perfection. A perfect fruit will always be a being of love; even in a harsh environment, love remains in its soul. For the imperfect fruit, achieving this love requires real effort.

DIVORCE

Divorce occurs when relationship, courtship, and partnership are mismanaged due to poor foundations or neglect. Divorce is the formal or informal separation of two people bound together. When a union is formed based on wrong decisions, discomfort eventually sets in, and the union becomes toxic. The parties irritate each other as intensely as they once loved.

If problems arise at the relationship or courtship level and are not resolved, divorce becomes inevitable. Every relationship and courtship must be tended to with utmost care, so that the partnership remains free of discord.

SERMON

I advise that we follow the path already laid out by the Creator to fulfill our purpose in life. Consider the father of faith, Abraham/Prophet Ibrahim (PBUH). He left his father's house at God's instruction to go to an unknown land—a demonstration of pure obedience. Obedience is the first step of relationship (knowledge)—walking with God. He waited for God's promise, and when he stumbled, he was granted opportunity for restitution.

Courtship (understanding) occurred when God asked him to sacrifice his only son. Abraham did not hesitate. This was the peak that ushered him into partnership with God. At that point, God swore by Himself to fulfill every promise, because Abraham had successfully walked through relationship and courtship into partnership.

Let us all align with our Maker—it is the only way to experience real joy. Happiness is based on affection and does not last, but joy comes from the soul. Though it may be accompanied by pain, it ultimately brings a relief that endures far longer than any fleeting happiness.

Love is key. There cannot be true love without understanding the rhythm of the soul and progressing through the steps of relationship, courtship, and partnership.

CHAPTER 1

MAN & DESTINY

The only way for a person to become fully aware of his or her destiny is by asking the Creator. But before one can make such an enquiry, he or she must first gain a certain level of understanding about the self, the universe, and the Creator.

First and foremost, you must believe that you are not merely a scientific accident, but a product of a Creator—and that this Creator exists in a realm beyond your full comprehension, because your mental structure is not configured to grasp it entirely.

Secondly, accepting this fact launches you into the next step: understanding the reality that you were created in the image and likeness of your Creator. With this knowledge, you will begin to see yourself as the living image of the unseen God.

Thirdly, you must grasp that you are a soul living in a body, kept alive by the breath of life—the atmospheric composition that sustains your physical form. This understanding ushers you directly into the realm of establishing a relationship and intimacy with your Creator.

Human life can be compared to:

- A ship in the middle of a gigantic ocean,
- A loner in the middle of a desert,
- A stray bird in the middle of the sky,
- An innocent young lad in the middle of a jungle.

Many of us are lost from birth. Without a map or a compass, you cannot navigate the sea, the air, the desert, or the jungle. All you will do is wander aimlessly, making yourself prey for predators.

No one was born without purpose. The Creator made each of us for a specific reason.

Destiny is like your fingerprint. Science has proven that no two people in the world have the same fingerprint. Human fingerprints are detailed, nearly unique, difficult to alter, and durable over a lifetime. They are one of the best means of identification—almost impossible to change. This clearly indicates that the Creator made each person specially and uniquely, to carry out a specific assignment. Our capacities and capabilities are embedded in our very structure. Everyone is indeed a messenger on an assignment.

Without awareness of their destinies, humans cannot subdue, replenish, or have dominion over the Earth. They can only increase and multiply uncontrollably, thereby creating problems for themselves.

Discovering destiny has everything to do with knowing your Creator. Only He can perfectly reveal your destiny, because He alone knows why He created you. It is like using a machine: you can only operate it correctly after reading the manual written by the manufacturer.

Life's various challenges have brought humanity to a point of oblivion and deep misunderstanding. People spend all their time struggling to survive, closing off the opportunity to seek the Creator for understanding about why they were created.

By design, our basic needs have already been provided by God. But due to the mismanagement of resources, we have created a society that cannot be fully satisfied. People spend the better part of their lives searching for basic needs, and fear of the future drives them to save for tomorrow—which is wise, given the present state of things.

The purpose of knowing and fulfilling your destiny is to occupy your rightful place in the order of creation, for everything was created in order. Without order, there is turbulence. That is why there is so much turbulence in the world today: those who have not discovered their destinies force themselves into roles meant for others, disrupting the natural order.

Purpose refers to the pathway that must be followed to fulfill destiny. The all-wise Creator has prepared the path you must follow to accomplish the task He has assigned you. It is in discovering your destiny that the path is revealed—and along that path, your basic needs are found, serving as sustenance and provision for the journey.

We end up blaming the Creator for abandoning us, forgetting that it is we who have not followed the path prepared for us. Instead, we try to make our own paths, resulting in a lifetime of struggle and an unfulfilled death.

Today, I urge you to reconsider your ways. Go back to the Creator and ask why He created you. He alone holds the map. Seek Him, and He will be glad to hand you the compass.

The question remains: How do you interact with the Creator?

CHAPTER 2

THE CREATOR

WHO is the Creator?

You cannot interact with someone you know nothing about. To assist you, I present an essay containing an infinitesimal glimpse of knowledge about the Creator.

According to common sense, the Creator made everything we see—the natural environment. For now, this definition is sufficient, because we live by common sense. A deeper understanding, if not approached carefully, can disrupt our grasp on reality and hinder any fruitful comprehension.

The Creator is greater than what our eyes can see, our hands can hold, or our bodies can feel. Nevertheless, we can see, hold, and feel Him through an enlightened mind.

The Creator made us in His image and likeness. Your neighbors—whom you see every day—are the different images of God visible to mortal eyes. This is why it is said: Love your neighbor as yourself, for in doing so, you have loved your Creator.

The image and likeness of a man is that of a soul—your mind, residing in your mortal heart, seated gracefully within a body. The body serves as an apparatus for living on Earth (just as a spacecraft enables life beyond Earth), sustained by the breath of life. This directly points to the image and likeness of your Creator, though in a much higher dimension.

Your Creator is a Being (Soul) who can exist in or take any Form (Body), and has a Breath (Spirit) that connects Him to and gives life to all He created. In contrast, man is a being who exists solely in human form and depends entirely on the breath of life for survival.

Do not be confused. Your Creator is understood at different levels depending on your degree of spiritual enlightenment. I advise you to hold firmly to what you can understand: that you yourself are the image of your Creator.

With this knowledge, you can begin to learn how to commune with your Creator, regardless of your religion. Religions are pathways laid down by men—documented accounts of prehistoric and historic individuals who claimed to walk with God.

Discovering Your Path

Everyone, at some point in life, has naturally loved doing certain things. Often, due to lack of knowledge or life's challenges, a person abandons this inclination and pursues something else, not realizing that the original passion points directly to his or her destiny. Those activities we perform naturally, with or without effort, reveal who we truly are.

The Power of Persistent Pursuit

The breath of life within you has the power to summon anything in the universe, depending on the level of energy and understanding you possess. “Using your breath to summon” means calming your mind and speaking silently within, connecting yourself to your Creator’s Spirit. When you remain persistent and purposeful in your pursuit, He will grant your request. To summon is to pray with focused intention.

Some claim the search is endless because they do not always receive what they ask for. The reality is this: if you persist, a continuous pursuit in your heart and mind will compel the spiritual realm to respond. It will reveal answers through various means. Persistence is the key that opens the spiritual door.

Then you will begin to have dreams. Your mind will start to see pictures. People around you will unknowingly repeat meaningful words. The universe itself will point the way. The more you give yourself to this meditation in mind and heart, the clearer these images become. These pictures are meant to reveal your destiny to you—both logically and beyond logic. What follows is knowing the Spirit of your Creator...

CHAPTER 3

THE (BREATH) SPIRIT OF YOUR CREATOR

The Creator is a Being (Soul). Souls are invisible to mortal eyes, for mortal eyes cannot behold immortal things. We perceive the Creator with the eye of our mind, reflected in the mortal things that surround us. Thus, people see Him as:

- The lion, for it is the king of the jungle.
- The ox, for its great strength.
- The eagle, for its sovereign uniqueness.
- Man, because of all creation, he is directly linked—the image and likeness of the Creator.
- The sun, for it is the central force of our system.
- The moon, for its faithful phases of renewal.
- The stars, for their intricate beauty.

The Spirit of the Creator fills everything. It is His breath that gives life to all creation in its myriad forms.

Knowing the Creator

Knowing the Creator begins with purposeful meditation in the heart. This enables us, through our own breath, to connect with the breath of our Creator (His Spirit). His Spirit then hovers over us, shedding light and supplying inspiration.

Often, the Spirit will inspire you through a particular religion. This allows you to learn from people of old—to understand God's movements in the past and the prophecies that position you to align with His work in the present. People often forget that religion is a school, not a home; a journey, not a destination. Many never graduate, instead oscillating in a religious circle and becoming fanatics. Those who refuse to graduate often become bullies to others.

Do not be offended. Graduating from religion means beginning the path of spirituality. This path leads you to know God more personally, even beyond the knowledge contained in religious books.

~~This is why Prophet Mohammed (S.A.W) was not a Muslim, and Jesus Christ (whom Christians call the Messiah) was not a Christian. They both graduated from the school of religion and had a personal encounter with their Creator. Yet, many who are fascinated by their encounters have idolized them in their hearts.~~

Jesus, whom I prefer to call Emmanuel, said, "When the Spirit of truth comes, He will guide you into all truth... and you will do even greater works." But by refusing to let go of religion, people roll in the same circle, creating confusion and constantly antagonizing their brothers—who are also created in God's image and likeness.

When you destroy the image and likeness of God in your neighbor, and then proclaim "God is great" with your mouth, your actions have defiled what you claim to honor.

The Daily Path

Knowing the Spirit of God is a daily practice. He, the Spirit, may lead you into a religion. Most of us are led into religion by our parents, but the greatest individuals who have impacted the world were led into it by the Spirit of the Creator.

Through that religion, He will build you. There you will learn from the knowledge of others. Then, through consistent obedience to His word, He will establish you on a firm foundation. It is at this point that you will truly begin to understand your destiny and walk the path of purpose.

A Final Caution

Finally, be aware that there are other beings—fallen angels, jinn, and the like—that also seek to inspire you. The only way to draw the Spirit of your Creator is through pure meditation of the mind. If your meditation arises from a mind void of hidden desires and selfish ambition, you will become a host to the Spirit of your Creator. If not, you will make yourself available to other beings, drowning in an ocean of confusion and being positioned as an extremist.

CHAPTER 4

THE DIMENSIONS OF GOD

Generally, dimensions refer to the features or measurable extents of a matter, such as length, breadth, and depth. While the absolute existence of God is beyond human reasoning, we can examine a minute fraction of His nature through what we can see, feel, taste, perceive, and touch.

The dimensions of Almighty God can be divided into two parts: major and minor. The major dimensions are wisdom, knowledge, understanding, counsel, might, the fear (awe) of God, and authority. But first, let us consider the minor dimensions, which refer to the general, relational nature of God as He interacts with His creation.

THE MINOR DIMENSIONS: THE RELATIONAL NATURE OF GOD

He is the Almighty God: To be God is to be a superhuman Being or Spirit worshipped as having absolute power over nature and human destiny. There is a vast difference between THE GOD and gods. The God is supreme in the chain of authority, while gods are beings created and crowned by God or by man. His authority defines His supremacy, which encompasses every sphere and dimension imaginable.

He is the Creator: A creator is one who brings something into existence. Everyone who produces anything is a creator, but Almighty God is the Creator of all creators.

He is the King: A king is the ruler of an independent state. Almighty God is the King of Kings, the supreme commander of the entire universe.

He is the Lord: To be Lord is to act with supreme authority and dominion over all creatures, both in Heaven and on Earth.

He is a Savior: A savior delivers or rescues someone from danger. Through His providence, God orders our protection from seen and unseen forces that threaten to cut short our lives and hinder the fulfillment of our destinies.

He is the God of Justice: Justice is the administration of law to maintain order. Within this dimension reside mercy, discipline, and love.

He is a Merciful God: Mercy is compassion or forgiveness shown to someone in one's power. We, His creatures, have consistently rebelled, yet this dimension of God serves as a protective covering over us.

He is the God of Love: Above all, He crowns His actions with love—an intense feeling of deep affection, a great interest and pleasure in all He has designed and created.

He is a Father: Relationship is everything. The bond between a father and his child is one of the strongest. God relates to us in this way.

He is a Mother: A mother knows the pain of carrying a child and will go to great lengths to ensure its security. This reveals another dimension of God's care for His creatures.

He is a Sister: There are things one can only discuss with a sister because of her unique nature and response. God reveals this dimension to those who truly spend time knowing and conversing with Him.

He is a Brother: Similarly, certain things are shared only with a brother. God also relates in this way to those who seek Him intimately.

He is your Boyfriend: This speaks to the affectionate, consoling, and romantically attentive nature of God—an energy of affection associated with the masculine.

He is your Girlfriend: This refers to the tender, nurturing, and intimately comforting nature of God—an energy of affection associated with the feminine.

He is your Admirer: Almighty God regards us with respect and gazes upon us with pleasure—especially those who honor Him and those under His mercy. We are His image and likeness; He finds deep, innermost delight in us.

The dimension of God you hold onto—the aspect you believe Him to be—is the dimension through which He will relate to you all the days of your life. Abraham was called a friend of God; David was a man after God's own heart.

THE MAJOR DIMENSIONS AND THE RESTORATION OF MAN

The major dimensions of Almighty God are the core characteristics that make Him supreme. When man was created, God breathed into him all these major dimensions except one: authority, which man was meant to earn over time.

When man disobeyed, he fell from the ladder of ascent, gradually losing his ability to easily increase and multiply, and completely losing the authority to subdue, replenish, and have dominion over the Earth.

As times and seasons passed, God decided to restore humanity to its rightful position. Different people across the world sought to know God but, in their ignorance, began worshipping His creations. They lived abominable lives under doctrines taught by fallen angels. God cleansed the Earth with a flood, preserving Noah and his household, and re-established His covenant for humanity to increase, multiply, subdue, replenish, and have dominion.

As humanity multiplied again and erred, God chose Abraham. He trained him in obedience and established a covenant with him, creating a new world through his seeds, Ishmael and Isaac. Abraham was called a friend of God because he walked in absolute obedience.

Through this lineage, God began to restore His major dimensions to humanity:

- 1. Through Moses, God revealed the dimension of the fear and knowledge of Him.
- 2. Through Jesus Christ, God revealed the dimension of His counsel and might.
- 3. Through the Holy Spirit, God is now revealing the dimension of wisdom and understanding.

4. Through the acquisition of all these dimensions, God will finally reveal the dimension of His authority to those He finds trustworthy.

CHAPTER 5

SEXUAL INTERCOURSE

Sex is everything. Imagine a life of waking up, eating breakfast, working, returning home, eating dinner, and sleeping—repeating the same routine every single day. Sex is the essence of life; it is the act that gives our lives meaning and form. It is more than we think or may ever fully know—an act and an art that connects us to the supernatural.

The union of a man and a woman creates new human life. This simple reality reveals that we possess supernatural powers requiring knowledge and understanding to be fully manifested. Our ability to reproduce is a profound clue that we are more than we know. If we think deeply, we realize that through unity, humanity can achieve whatever it aspires to.

The Origin and Sacredness of Sex
According to various religious and cultural accounts of creation, we have learned—but perhaps do not truly understand—how the knowledge of sex was first revealed.

If we reason from common sense, we might say that when man was created, the Creator saw that though he was perfect in soul, he was imperfect in his mortal body. He had the potential to feel deeply, but his emotions were unsettled. He couldn't reason thoroughly with himself, and life felt meaningless. For this reason, the Creator decided to create another type of being from the man himself—one who would bring balance and stability, offering the absolute comfort and relaxation he could not find alone.

In His wisdom, God removed from within man another human capable of comforting him in every way. This new being was named woman. Though similar, their differences became a mystery to be explored. In the process of discovery, sexual intercourse was found. Then man declared, "This is bone of my bone and flesh of my flesh; in this, I have found comfort." At that moment, sex became everything—the full stop to every sentence, the conclusion of every matter.

From the beginning, the human body was a profound mystery. The advancement of knowledge through time, seasons, and dispensations has gradually revealed the realities embedded in this mysterious apparatus of flesh. Each revelation gives humanity a reason to awaken; as knowledge increases, understanding deepens and expands.

In prehistoric times, sex was considered a sacred act. Over time, it became commonplace, and repetition made it seem boring, leading people to seek other forms of excitement in pursuit of perfect relaxation. The institution of marriage preserved sex as an honorable and sacred act. Though many factors have eroded its sacredness, sex remains honorable to those who live honorably.

Sex in the Modern World

The advent of science and technology has dramatically altered the understanding of sex. Cultures have shared ideas, resulting in countless ways to perform the act. This knowledge is now “in the air”—we cannot help but “breathe” it in. Anyone who fails to engage with it risks being left behind. The Earth is revolving and evolving; we have no choice but to evolve with it in the most honorable way possible.

The dynamics of life render static people irrelevant; they suffer from a lack of updated knowledge. A child is socialized by various agents: the family (imparting knowledge based on its own background), peer groups, communities, religious institutions, and schools. The internet has become the greatest agent of socialization, summing up human knowledge.

Ultimately, experiential knowledge is the key, for sex is both an act and an art.

Understanding Sexual Intimacy

The nature of a person determines his or her sexual drive, and this must be understood by both parties intending to unite. Humanity was given a complex brain to do things in an ordered way, different from animals—though some animals are remarkably cautious in performing this act and art. Sex is an act and art that deserves respect; anything not respected loses its value. Marriage is a human design to keep sex honorable, but it is understanding that truly makes it so.

Understanding begins when both parties inquire about each other—silently, radically, consciously, or unconsciously—until they become an open book to one another. Sex can be beautiful but turn ugly if understanding is absent. Knowledge is important, but understanding is paramount.

Sex is driven by both love (from the soul) and affection (from the body). I believe both soul and body should guide the choice of a sexual partner. Sex is a beautiful “planet” we reach when led by both soul and body. Right sex begins in the soul, moves through the body, and ends in the soul. Wrong sex begins in the body, moves through the body, and ends in the body.

The question is: How do you perform “right sex”?

IT ALL BEGINS WITH THE ABILITY TO UNDERSTAND THE RHYTHM OF ONE’S SOUL (ART) AS IT TOUCHES THE BODY (ACT).

We are all connected. The purpose of a relationship must be carefully studied to achieve perfection. Destiny brings two people together in the same sphere; affection brings them together under the same angle. A sphere is a vast circle; an angle is a confined space. Destiny and purpose encompass many life activities; understanding narrows it down to finding a helper—a sexual partner.

The "Angle" of Intimacy

This "angle" can be large or small, depending on three types of knowledge:

1. General Knowledge: Understanding sex from a broad perspective.
2. Relationship Knowledge: Understanding it in the specific context of your partner's past experiences, present predicaments, and future expectations.
3. Experiential/Spontaneous Knowledge: The intuitive, lived understanding that arises in the moment.
  - Past Experiences include upbringing, education, trauma (e.g., rape), religious teachings, cultural perspectives, joys, and pains.
  - Present Predicaments refer to current struggles, decisions, and circumstances shaped by the past.
  - Future Expectations are dreams, visions, and aspirations for a better life built upon past and present realities.

With this foundation, we can proceed to the "theatre" where the act and art are performed.

The Act and Art: Climbing the Mountain

Sex that begins in the soul and moves to the body is simple yet complicated, governed by time and season but adaptable through understanding.

Two people brought together by the soul start at a favorable angle. It becomes more favorable when each understands the other's rhythm of affection—a favorite hairstyle, a particular scent, a conducive environment, or, above all, a gift that touches the heart. The best intimacy is often initiated by a heartfelt gift, which can suspend other “laws” and make everything perfect.

The heart is the control center. The heartbeat dictates the manner of the act, for in this intimate space there are no commandments—only obedience to the rhythm of the heart. This leads to one essential truth: sex is performed by both parties, and both must be satisfied.

Consider commercial sex work: a client seeks gratification, and the worker seeks payment. Both leave satisfied within their own terms. Sex, in its essence, is like climbing a mountain and descending—it involves arousing the entire body and then allowing it to relax. Every part participates, from the hair on the head to the soles of the feet.

The Ascent (Arousal)

Climbing begins with the decision to climb. The heart marshals energy, raising the heartbeat. You must find the right spot to begin. In sex, this means understanding each other so completely that the body feels accessible, not mysterious. Total submission from both parties helps locate the perfect starting point.

During courtship, few women explicitly state where they wish to be touched; most leave it as a puzzle. The ability to listen, observe, and respond to every subtle move identifies the uniform starting point.

Climbing requires cautious, step-by-step progress to avoid falling back. Similarly, during sex, exceptional care must be taken to follow the rhythm. Like a singer staying on key, a deviation can disrupt the entire process. There must be a careful, systematic arousal of every part of the body.

A Practical Scene

A couple sits at the dining table, sharing a steady gaze. They understand it's time to "make music." The initiator—man or woman—gently touches the other. Upon mutual response, they move to a more comfortable space. While bedrooms are common, I believe sex can begin and end anywhere within the safety of your home—indeed, the entire Earth is our home.

A connection is established through kissing and caressing every reachable part of the body, slowly or rapidly depending on mutual desire. They help each other undress, revealing their most intimate selves, deepening the connection.

Gentle caressing intensifies as they reach the midpoint of their ascent. It is advisable to achieve a high level of arousal (around 70% of the peak) before penetration, which represents the absolute alignment of souls and bodies.

The Teasing Stage and Penetration

Teasing is vital—it awakens every part of the body.

At this point, the female body is ready, fully lubricated for the journey to the summit. Delayed penetration can build explosive sensual energy.

Sudden, careful penetration brings a mix of comfort and discomfort, requiring heightened momentum.

You no longer walk; you jog carefully.

This “jogging” involves careful, continuous, and systematic penetration from various angles. Comfort elicits moans; discomfort may bring screams. Reactions vary: some close their eyes (the “visionary”), some enter a state of confession where deep secrets are revealed (a skillful partner can ask profound questions here), and some shed tears of joy. By now, both parties should be at 90% of their ascent.

The Peak and The Descent

It is crucial that both partners reach the peak together. In the final stretch, the “climber” moves faster. The woman may feel completely overwhelmed, “blacked out.” A struggle emerges at 97%—she may fear the peak, while he is eager to reach it. For a moment, they become “enemies,” locked in a gentle battle. The man’s strength and persistence are key here. At 99%, she surrenders, and he achieves the mission. The temperature drops; both lose their heat, collapsing into a brief nap at the summit.

The nap is short. As it ends, an initiator (often the woman) gently challenges: “Are you tired?” Pride stirs the man to “destroy the enemy completely.” Now, a playful struggle for supremacy ensues—the fun part, with clear eyes and renewed energy. Different styles are explored as they carefully, joyfully descend the mountain.

Conclusion: Sustaining Intimacy

The essence of this detailed description is to foster an understanding of intimacy—an alignment to be cherished over time. Relationships based solely on affection often lead to weariness and divorce. Soulmates, however, rarely tire of each other, finding joy in their union.

Creating an atmosphere of positive unpredictability sustains both soulmates and affection-based partners. I implore both parties to explore the breadth of knowledge available, creating a dynamic environment where their partnership can thrive and flourish.

CHAPTER 6

LUMINOSITY (SPIRITUAL INTERCOURSE)

Luminosity is the glory of God—an intensely brilliant light that does not wane but shines ever brighter. It speaks of the very nature of God, which sustains, replenishes, and empowers all creation.

When man fell, he lost his position of authority and, with it, the sensitivity to communicate with his Creator. Disobedience severed his intimacy with his Maker. After ages, God established a restorative route for humanity to return, step by step, to the position from which he fell—through renewed intimacy and communion.

This restorative route is designed to gradually deposit within man the different dimensions of God's Spirit, with the ultimate aim of filling him completely with the seven spirits of God. This filling grants unhindered access to the Most High.

The Threefold Path of Restoration

1. The Path of Knowledge and the Fear of God

- Introduced by: Abraham (Ibrahim)
- Enacted by: Moses (Musa)

- Purpose: This path reveals the laws that must be followed to be filled with the dimension of God dealing with knowledge and holy fear.

2. The Path of Counsel and Might of God

- Introduced by: The Prophets
- Enacted by: Immanuel (Jesus Christ)
- Purpose: This path reveals the depth of love for God and neighbor required for the indwelling dominance of God's Spirit.

3. The Path of Wisdom and Understanding

- Introduced by: The Holy Spirit
- Enacted by: Luminous Oak
- Purpose: This path reveals the manifold wisdom and understanding of God—the mysteries that will enable humanity to increase, multiply, subdue, replenish, and have dominion. This automatically restores humanity to its original place of authority.

The Dispensations of Belief

According to the biblical pattern:

- Moses was synonymous with Judaism, the belief system of that dispensation.

- Immanuel was synonymous with Christianity, the belief system of that dispensation.
- Now, Luminous Oak is synonymous with Luminosity, the belief system of this final dispensation.

To return to his place of authority, man must follow through these paths sequentially: the path of Judaism (which leads to Islam) and Christianity, which now leads directly to the path of Luminosity.

Luminosity: The Destination

Luminosity is the destination for all humanity—the recovered place of authority that was lost. Man was created in the image and likeness of the Creator, designed as a perfect vessel to replicate the glory of the Almighty.

The only way a man can carry this glory is by allowing the Holy Spirit to implant within him the spirits of:

1. Knowledge and the Fear of God,
2. Counsel and Might,
3. Wisdom and Understanding.

Only then can he enter the presence of the Almighty, reflect God's glory, and demonstrate divine authority. Light refers to authority; the degree of light refers to higher authority.

CHAPTER 7

LUMINOUS OAK

A Luminous Oak is a person who has walked the path of the knowledge and fear of God, and the path of the counsel and might of God, and who now walks in the wisdom and understanding of God. At this stage, the journey is endless.

His success in traversing these paths positions him in the very presence of Almighty God, enabling him to reflect God's glory on Earth. Since every person is like a tree spiritually, such a man will not be just any tree, but a great, glowing tree with the ability to provide shade and shelter for all others.

That glowing tree is a Luminous Oak—a human who has regained access to the position from which humanity fell. He now lives and operates in the authority of the Almighty, fulfilling the original command: to increase, multiply, subdue, replenish, and have dominion.

BOOK 3

ECLIPSE OF THE SOUL

LUMINOUS OAK

In every truth,
There lies a deception.

In every lie,
There hides a truth.

It all comes down
To the degree of your understanding,
And paying apt attention:

Attention to the truth,
To recognize the lie within it;
And attention to the lie,
To uncover the truth it conceals.

— Luminous Oak, 2026

DEDICATION

I dedicate this book, ultimately, to Almighty God—the Creator of the universe and the Giver of life.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

My profound gratitude goes first to my parents, whose vessel was prepared for my entrance into this world.

It is my utmost desire to acknowledge all those I have had the privilege to encounter. Even influences I perceived as negative were used to prune me into the person I am today and the better person I am becoming.

I also wish to sincerely thank everyone who contributed in any way to the editing, design, and production of this book.

PREFACE

We all find ourselves belonging to a particular family, culture, tradition, and religion—even answering to a name we did not choose. While still in the womb, our parents decide our fate. If we fail to follow suit, they—and society at large—label us as rebellious.

From adolescence through our teenage years and into adulthood, we struggle daily to discover who we truly are. In this struggle, especially for those unsatisfied with the status quo, the search for understanding often leads to being labeled with various so-called mental challenges.

Society has a name for everything. For example:

- Depression—clinically defined as a condition of severe hopelessness and inadequacy—is dismissed as "walking the brink," or cliff-walking.
- Many of us who realize we don't fit in and demand more from life are classified as bipolar, a psychiatric term for swings between manic and depressive episodes.

Yet the reality for those of us who have walked the path of depression victoriously is this: at its end lies true freedom. It grants the mind unlimited independence to swim deep, fly high, and walk far.

Likewise, the realm of so-called bipolarism is the universe of innovation, the planet of creativity, the continent where new civilizations are born.

The wisdom and knowledge I have acquired have led to the writing of this book, The Eclipse of the Soul. It describes a realm of utopia—a state of perfection achieved through deliberate effort to bring the body and soul into equilibrium with the universe and its Creator.

Religions, cultures, and traditions have built walls around our individuality. Through laws and commandments, they dictate what is good and bad, what to do and what to avoid. This is mental slavery—the highest form of soul torment. It amputates our legs, trims our feathers, and bursts our fins.

The soul must be allowed to wander. The body must be allowed to explore. All enquiry and discovery must be propelled by love and remain in subjection to the Spirit of the Creator.

The Eclipse of the Soul is a collection of enlightening, sensual, motivating, and inspiring poems and essays aimed at illuminating the thirsty and hungry soul. It is divided into seven parts:

1. Opening Verses

2. Secrets of the Soul – leading to the soul's illumination

PART 1

OPENING VERSES

1. A TREE
2. THE ALMIGHTY GOD
3. PERFECTION
4. UNDERSTANDING
5. LUMINOUS OAK

A TREE

All of the universe
Is just one tree.

All of humanity
Is just one tree,
Attached to just one tree.

When man fell,
Humanity separated from the one true tree
To create another—
A replica of the one true tree,
But it was a fake.

A wicked and intricately complicated deception.

We have light, and we have darkness.
Anything that is not light is darkness.
And anything that is not darkness is light.

THE ALMIGHTY GOD

I see a vision—
it is the image of the Creator.
What I see is a glowing tree, whose canopies spread beyond sight,
whose roots spread beyond reach.
Surrounding it is a terrible, fierce wind that blows the wicked away and draws the righteous closer.

The image is overwhelming.
But when I looked at myself,
I understood.

I am created in the image of God;
His likeness is my nature.
In merely looking at my form, you glimpse a minute iota of the image of my Creator.

PERFECTION

Perfection is a degree of illumination.
Illumination is the entrance of light—
not just any light, but a living light
radiating from the Creator of the universe, sponsored by His very Spirit, void of any rebellious agency.

Man, in pursuit of perfection, is caught in an imperfect and deceptive world.
He lives each day striving to understand,
but does not come to full understanding.
Then comes the opportunity for an encounter, which brings a degree of illumination.

And I discovered this:
the knowledge of the universe is the very knowledge of the workings of my body.
Coming to this understanding—behold—I have reached my own perfection.
I am my own universe.

UNDERSTANDING

I am a soul-being,
living in a fleshy body,
sustained by the elements found in the atmosphere.

With my soul,
I embrace my Creator.
With the breath of my nostrils,
I relate with my environment.
By the blood flowing in my veins,
I walk and work out my destiny.

In walking and working to fulfill destiny,
I offer perfect worship to my Maker.

My soul is inspired at the impulse of the Spirit.
My body is motivated at the impulse of the soul.

After the day's work,
when I have fulfilled my task,
my body longs for the intimate touch of a woman who gently, systematically removes the stress from my loins in the most eventful and gratifying way—such that my heart stops wandering, and my soul is kept calm,
ready to receive the next task.

LUMINOUS OAK

A man created in the image of his Creator, a man formed in the likeness of the Almighty Sculptor, who follows the path of wisdom,
glides the runway of knowledge, and arrives at the point of understanding—which is this:

A relationship with the Most High through the Spirit, knowing the daily purpose of my soul,
fueling the body to fulfill its task.
Thus, I stay far above the abyss of deception, dwelling deep in the realm of understanding, living beyond the illusions of the sons of men.

Illuminated with a passion to rescue man from manipulation, to emancipate him from the claws of confusion and hatred,
and to bring all into the sphere of love.

PART 2

ILLUMINATING THE SOUL

1. THE SOUL
2. DESTINY & PURPOSE
3. POSSESSION AND OPPRESSION
4. DELIVERANCE
5. THE PROPHET
6. FINGER PRINTS
7. DESIRE
8. LOST BUT FOUND
9. A CONSTANT
10. NUGGETS
11. A SECRET

THE SOUL

The soul is made up of particles of the sun, molecules of the moon,
fragments of the stars,
and dust from all other planets.

Your soul is the universe in a being, tucked within an earthly apparatus.

Do not be deceived.
Deception is the daily bread.
Your ancestors were ethnocentric.
Your parents are ignorant.
Your teachers are products of ignorance and ethnocentrism.

Who is there to tell you the truth?

Only with your breath will you inquire to know:
what is right,
what is wrong,
and what is acceptable.

DESTINY & PURPOSE

Show me a fool,
I will show you a man chasing the wind.
Your works shall pass through fire;
only those aligned with your destiny will stand the test of time.
Even your body shall be lost in the flames,
but your soul will be judged by your deeds—destined either to shine or to be dimmed.

Care for nothing but your destiny.
Care for nothing but your purpose.
Care for nothing but for others.
Care for nothing but for your Creator.

The sun, moon, and stars were created to mark times and seasons.
If this is true,
what then is the purpose of your existence?

The cock was created to be a timekeeper.
The wolf was created as a seasonal indicator.
What were you created to become?

Or were you born by mistake?

Absolutely not.
Indeed, you have a destiny.

Yes.
There is a purpose for your existence.

INVASION, POSSESSION & OPPRESSION

When a soul-being makes a covenant with a being from another realm, it grants that being access to its very seed.
The child born from this union is not a soul-being,
but a being from the realm of water, land, or air.
This soulless being in human form creates chaos in the natural order, spreading confusion throughout the visible realm.

A soul can be possessed and oppressed—knowingly or unknowingly, with or without understanding.
A soul can be enslaved and bound by the powers of Hades.
But with understanding, you can set your soul free.
With insight, you can dispossess your possessors.
Seek the truth.

The knowledge of truth is a light that energizes your soul to break its chains.

No man is independent.
You are either instructed and led by the Kingdom of Light, or possessed and oppressed
by the Kingdom of Darkness.
No soul exists independent of light or darkness.
You must be an ambassador of one.

Every decision you make is a product of light or darkness.

Every action you take is connected to a kingdom.
We are either slaves of darkness or representatives of light.

When a man and a woman mate,
the sperm strikes the egg, causing a rebound.

During development, a soul-being is released into the forming body.

At this point, it possesses little will.

It is first subdued and possessed by the kingdom of its mother and father.
Then, upon birth, the body is oppressed.

The child is born into bondage—
a born slave, with ignorance in its loins.

It continues life's journey, and more wandering beings possess it:
during intercourse with carriers of darkness,
during excursions,
through contact with possessed elements.

Yes, a soul can be held captive.
And a body can be possessed exponentially, oppressed infinitely.

DELIVERANCE

A soul can be delivered from evil possession, and a body set free from unholy oppression, but only through an encounter with the wisdom of God.

This wisdom declares:

*Every soul should be free in its will,
and every body should be loose and free.*

Yet these words can only be enacted by a man who himself has been totally set free.
The invocation of God's wisdom by such a man, in the might of the Spirit, upon a victim of possession, brings deliverance.

A soul set free,
a body delivered,
can return to bondage
if the light that freed them is not allowed to remain,
if it finds no room for expression.
If so, the aftermath will be worse—assuredly worse.

The light that delivers you must be maintained, sustained, and allowed expression.

A man has power—his willpower—
to either allow or disallow.
But this power can be challenged by Hades.
It can be deceitfully stolen, if you do not submit to the Power that does not force itself upon you.

And that Power is the power of your Creator in the person of the Holy Spirit—the sole medium through which the Creator relates with the created.

THE PROPHET

Behold, I stand in the middle of the earth, declaring words of inspiration.
Though I speak in crystal-clear words, ignorance deafens your ears.
Release yourself to the wind.
Until you learn the ways of the birds,
you will not be able to sing,
you will not be able to fly.
To swim is most difficult.
To slide in water is most effortless.
It depends entirely on your ability to let go.
If you fear the current,
it will scourge you.
If you embrace it,
it will heal you.
Learn from the animals.
Gently examine their ways.
All men are blinded
by what makes them feel powerful.
All animals have insight through what makes them aware of their weakness.
Do you not know?
Pride is a disease that blinds the eye.
Humility is the eye-opener.

Pride leads to a fall,
but humility gives you wings.

FINGERPRINTS

Your fingerprint is the identification number of your soul,
the trademark of your soul impressed upon your body.

There are no two alike.

A fingerprint represents a key.

If this is true,
what door is yours meant to open?

DESIRE

What does your soul thirst for all day?
What keeps you awake in the middle of the night?
What kicks you up in the morning?

Is it the riches of this world,
or the beauties of the earth?

Every man lives for a desire.

LOST BUT FOUND

We all find ourselves in the middle of this world.

We know nothing of where we come from,
and nothing of where we are going.

But one thing is certain:

we know where we are.

And that is the most important thing.

The knowledge of where you are is the key to knowing where you came from and the way to where you are going.

The secrets of the unknown are sung by birds,
whispered by the winds,
written on the clouds.

Only the wise can decipher these ancient signatures.

Why worry about your past?

Why bother about the future?

Why not dwell in the now, and let your works

justify your past

A CONSTANT

Wisdom teaches you patience, and, at the same time, tells you to ponder—but never to worry.

Whatever goes up must come down.

Even the earth is like a clock, rotating from pillar to post,
over and over again.

NUGGETS

How can a man fully understand?
How can a man fully know?
Who is there to show him his destiny?
Show me the cartographer who can plot his purpose.

Have you not known?
Have you not learned?
That only your Creator can reveal the purpose for your existence.

The soul is an immortal being.
It dwells in a mortal body,
taking human form to fulfill its task.
The food of the soul is the instruction it receives from the realm of light or darkness, and the reward given for fulfilling the task.

The soul is the link between the body and the unseen realm.
Its abode is deep in the abyss of the heart.
The soul is responsible for communicating instructions from the unseen to the heart of a man.

From the heart, they flow to the brain, where they are interpreted and conveyed to every pivotal part.

Learn to know your soul.
Learn to own your soul.
Your soul is a torch guiding you out of darkness.

A SECRET

Spiritually speaking,
the body and the soul can be imprisoned;
both can be held bound.

Physically speaking,
the body can be imprisoned,
but the soul cannot be held bound.

The body is surrounded by limitations,
but the soul is the root of opportunities.

The truth is this:
with the capacity of the soul,
nothing is impossible.

Yet without a body,
it cannot lift a feather.

PART 3

SPIRITUAL AWARENESS

1. REVELATION

2. SALVATION

3. CONTENTMENT

4. ALIGNMENT

5. THE MESSENGER

6. DEMONS ARE NOT UGLY

7. READ AGAIN & AGAIN

REVELATION

There is only one Spirit in the entire universe:
the Spirit of God.

Every other entity is a being.

Almighty God is a being.

Angels are beings.

Demons are beings.

Animals are beings.

Humans are beings.

The controversy is this:
everything unseen to the human eye is categorized as a spirit.

But beings are unseen to the human eye.

Humans are beings living inside an earthly apparatus,

sustained by the gases in the atmosphere.

Angels are beings with forms suitable for their realm.

God is a being—the only being who has a Spirit, and who can take any form.

SALVATION

Salvation can only be found in your Creator, and can only be given by your Creator.

Everyone has the capacity to summon His presence.

But many are unaware,
or, better still, many are too lazy.

Permit me to say:
many are not courageous enough to seek, pursue, and catch up with their Creator.

Every person has the right to ask the Creator, “What is my purpose?”

Do not be deceived.

Your Creator is closer to you than you can imagine.

Culture, tradition, belief—of which religion is a part—

is your greatest enemy.

It tells you your Creator is far away:
either in a big building,
or in a far-off land.

But the big building is your body,

and the far-off land is the corners of your mind.

It takes courage to begin the journey of knowing your Creator personally.

It takes determination to persist on the path of self-discovery.

It takes hard work to fight this battle within your mind.

The mind—
in the mind—
is your channel of escape, your medium for spiritual communication.

The mind must be known.
You must be closer to your mind than to anyone else.

Your mind can be a stranger, or a very close friend.

CONTENTMENT

All the things I need, I have.
All the things I want, I don't have.
I do not bother myself,
In my needs
my wants are met.
Hold my hand.
Follow me; don't be scared.
Let me take you to the hill,
to the cliff.
I will show you the earth,
and then you will know:
it is all a mirage.
Let me show you reality.
It is not in the south,
nor is it in the north.
People from the east cannot find it,
and the people from the west are tired of searching.
Whatever it is you seek,
it is inside you.
In your very mind lies the reality:
to know the one true God and to fellowship with Him.

ALIGNMENT

Authority and power are everything.
The degree of your wisdom determines the level of your authority and power.

Wisdom that is not updated will soon be outmatched.

Then your knowledge will be worthless,
and your understanding will come to naught.

Only consistent, persistent alignment with the Spirit of God—through whom you demonstrate your true capacity and capabilities—will guarantee your dominion, consistently, through time.

THE MESSENGER

What do you want to hear?
What else do you seek?
Questions abound,
but only the Creator can answer them all.
I can only say the little I know.

My advice is this:
seek for nothing other than love.
With love, you have everything.

I am going on a journey.
I will soon be back,
but I will not come back soon.

Why wait for me?
Why depend on me?
I am only a mist
that will blow away.

But your Creator is the solid rock.

Wait for Him.

Wait for Him.

I say, wait for Him.
You will not be disappointed.

DEMONS ARE NOT UGLY

Demons are Pre-Adamic creatures whose forms are half-man, half-animal.

They were created to serve man.

After the Fall, the reverse became the case:
man now serves demons.

This is what is ugly.

When a man has an encounter with the Lord,
he receives the authority to subdue his demons and rule over them.

Do not be deceived.

Demons cannot be killed or destroyed,
but they can be held bound.

Demons rule over men to carry out ugly arts and acts.

Corruption is ugly.

War is ugly.

Famine is ugly.

READ AGAIN & AGAIN

God Almighty
communicates wisdom to His creations.

Wisdom is a degree of light that replenishes the created.

No man can communicate wisdom.
Wisdom can only be communicated by a pure being.

Man can only strive for purity,
but can never be pure.

Therefore, man can only communicate knowledge to other men.

When wisdom passes
from one impure vessel to another, its degree is reduced to knowledge.
Knowledge is a lesser degree of light,
so its power to replenish is minimal.

Verily I say unto you, look to no man—
look only to God,
the Giver of life.

WORLD

NIGERIA

There was once a barren woman.
After a long time, the Creator remembered her, and she conceived.

Like every expectant mother, she was filled with joy.

On her way to the market, she met a prophetess.

“Greetings, woman, you who are highly favored!

In your womb lie three portions.

Behold, three pillars.

These three pillars are supernaturally destined by the Creator to be together.

Their true strength will be revealed only in their unity.

“The firstborn shall be called Yoruba. He will be a leader, for he has a wise and discerning heart.

He shall occupy the west.

“The second shall be called Igbo.

He will be a warrior, possessing the strength of an OX.

He shall occupy the southeast.

“The third shall be called Hausa. He will be a farmer, tenacious and fruitful; his seeds shall be as numerous as the stars.

He shall occupy the north.

“Woman, listen! Listen carefully to my words.
“Behold, your three fruits shall be like a fruitful vine by a spring, whose branches climb over a wall.
“With bitterness, archers will attack them. They will shoot in hostility, but their bow shall not prevail.
““Curse them! Curse them!” the people will shout.
“Yet no weapon fashioned against them shall prosper. No divination raised against them shall stand.
“For he who curses them will be cursed, and he who blesses them will be blessed.

“Go, my daughter.
“The Creator blesses you and your seed:
with blessings of the heavens above, blessings of the deep that lies below, blessings of the breast and of the womb.”

NIGERIA 02

A land of many resources, yet ruled by poverty.

A land of many opportunities,
yet filled with idleness.

A land of peace,
yet soaked in bloodshed.

A land of religious men—a congregation of cankerworms.

A land of political men—blind drivers.

A land of economic men—slave drivers.

NIGERIA 03

A day in Nigeria is like a day in hell.
Every minute that passes is filled with unrest.
Fear overwhelms you momentarily.

Our security agencies are the terrorists.

Our political leaders are the beasts.

Our economic leaders are the hawks.

Our religious leaders are the vultures.

NIGERIA 04

Nigerians—
the happiest people on earth.
In hunger, they smile.
In sickness, they laugh.
In persecution, they jubilate.
In death, they close their eyes.

For to smile is to be filled.
For to laugh is to be healed.
For to jubilate is to overcome.
And to close your eyes is to end.

NIGERIA 05

If I have the opportunity to live again,
I pray to be born a Nigerian—but not to the old,
to the new.

The old will definitely pass away,
and so, assuredly,
I believe in the new to come.

NIGERIA 06

Nigerians are like flowers whose petals are seeds.

No matter where they find themselves,
they will strive.

Persecute them, and they grow stronger.
Steal from them, and they become richer.

Kill them, and they multiply.

And above all:

if you treat their wives as slaves, they will take them from you and make them queens.

NIGERIA 07

Nigeria is the heartbeat of Africa.
Have you not learned?
Have you not known?
In the heart lies the mind,
and the mind represents the soul.
So it is right to say:
Nigeria is the soul of Africa.

NIGERIA 08

Nigerians:
a land of fraudsters,
a city of prostitutes.

Don't you know?
Have you not heard?
Unless a seed falls to the ground,
it can never become great.

Behold, a new Nigeria:
a land of great kings,
a city of queens.

NIGERIA 09

Nigerians are like air—
they are everywhere.
A country without Nigerians cannot survive.
We are created to heal nations,
to liberate Africa,
to save the world.

AFRICA

As I sat on my throne with my queen by my side, my attendant brought in a group of old men and women seeking audience with the king.

“What is the matter?” I asked.

They all burst into tears at once, as if they had rehearsed it.

“Do not cry in my presence,” I said. “I was appointed for this: to give those who grieve a crown of beauty, to anoint the mourners with oil of joy, and to clothe the heavy-hearted in garments of praise—so they may be called oaks of righteousness, that the Creator may be glorified.”

Hearing this, a woman among them steadied herself and spoke. Words began to drip from her mouth, one after the other, like melting ice.

“O king,” she began, showering praises, “I stand before you as a barren woman who has sons and daughters... but they are nowhere to be found.”

“Stop speaking in riddles, woman. Pour out your heart, for I have ears to listen.”

“A long time ago,” she said, “certain young men came to our land.

They claimed to be developers who wanted to help us. We welcomed them with open arms. They organized a feast and served us strong drink. We woke the next day to find them gone—and our sons and daughters, and our treasures, gone with them, taken away on the ways of the Atlantic and the Mediterranean.”

Overwhelmed, she fell into muttering. Another elder spoke:

“We cry daily. We mourn our sons and lament the enslavement of our daughters. We come to you today to bring our children home.”

My queen was moved, drawing herself close on her throne.

I took my great, long horn and blasted it toward the four cardinal points of the earth. The sound was deafening. Hearing it, the so-called developers grew uneasy and began to sail back, bringing with them the sons and daughters they had taken.

The elders rejoiced to see their children, but their joy turned to bitterness at the sight of the men.

One of the developers pleaded, “Forgive our wicked ambitions. We were young and slaves to pride.”

I asked the elders to forgive, so their joy might be complete—for a man only fully knows joy when he forgives.

Upon arrival, the sons and daughters embraced their parents... yet they were eager to return with the white men. And so, the old men and women volunteered to accompany their children on the long way of the Atlantic and the Mediterranean.

AFRICA 02

Black diamond.

Black gold.

Black star.

We are the strongest,
the brightest.

Above all,
we DOMINATE.

AFRICA 03

We were robbed.
We were killed.
We were caged.
They called us dogs.
They called us Negroes.

But we are warriors.

We recovered.
We are immortal.
We are invincible.
We cannot be caged.

We are the Lions.
We call ourselves gods.

AFRICA 04

Tell the weak to come to Africa.
Tell the sick to come to Africa.
Tell the young to come to Africa.

We give strength to the weak.
We heal the sick.
We train the young.

Though they call us archaic,
our ways,
our acts,
our words
have proven to be the best.

Tell the world to look to Africa.
Tell the nations to bow to Africa.

Don't you know?
We are the heartbeat of the world.
Without us,
there would be no Earth.

THE WORLD

A game reserve where lions rule the land, a dangerous atmosphere where eagles rule the air, a terrible sea
where sharks rule the water.

A food chain:
hawks feed on snakes,
snakes feed on lizards,
lizards feed on ants,
ants feed on forage,
forage licks the ground.

An olive garden,
void of love,
filled with thorns;
watered with pain,
tended with toil,
fertilized with human flesh, pressed with bones—
to produce bloody wine for heartless leaders to drink.

Where is the promised destruction?

Where is the consummation?

Is it coming soon?

Tell me, how soon?

If not now,

I am on my way to Mars.

In pride, we increase.

In strife, we multiply.

But without love, we will never replenish.

Without peace, we will never subdue.

Without unity, we will never have dominion.

Don't you know?

Ye are gods.

Let us walk together,
so we may work together.

If we strive together,
we shall rule together.

NO POVERTY

It is important to know the Earth is filled with enough resources for everyone.

But the sharks in the sea,
the eagles in the air,
and the lions that roam the land bite more than they can chew.

We can only achieve “No Poverty” when we respect every culture, acknowledge every tradition, and understand the difference between religion and spirituality.

Only then will we begin to care for the Earth
as we care for ourselves, and consider our neighbor as our own self.

ZERO HUNGER

I refuse to believe that people still sleep with empty bellies.

Hunger is a volcano—
it rumbles and rumbles.
No one should live near it,
yet so many live inside it.

Should we pray to God,
or pray to ourselves?
How can we sleep,
how can we eat,
how can we laugh
while others are hungry?

Let us fight hunger aggressively.
Let us give our eyes no sleep until we are certain, until we know
beyond all doubt,
that no one is hungry.

GOOD HEALTH & WELL-BEING

We must pursue knowledge.
We must seek it from every angle—whatever information, whatever relevant data is needed to conquer the Goliath that attacks our health and wrestles with our well-being.
What good is Gulliver on this planet
    Except we subdue
    We cannot replenish
Let alone have dominion

QUALITY EDUCATION

Ignorance is a stick—not just any stick,
but a dry, brittle one.

Education is a three-sided sword.

The first side is Wisdom, which helps acquire knowledge.

The second side is Knowledge, which leads to understanding.

The third side is Understanding, which can conquer the universe.

GENDER INEQUALITY

Are men not of women?

Are women not of men?

What is the point of argument?

Where is the inequality?

We are all beings

living in different human forms.

CLEAN WATER & SANITATION

Everything is water.
Life and death abide in water.
Clean water is life;
contaminated water is death.
What can you do without water?
What can you not do without water?
The search is endless.

Guard your water like a queen.
Protect your water bodies like a king.

AFFORDABLE AND CLEAN ENERGY

Life is energy.

Words are energy.

Everything is energy.

Your breath is life,
and your life is breath.

Both are energies that are never sold.

So why is reproduced energy sold—often expensive,
and in some places, unavailable?

Let us rethink.

Let us make life affordable.

Let us make life clean.

DECENT WORK & ECONOMIC GROWTH

Dear Humans,
I urge you all to wake up.
Gone are the days
when animals were beasts of burden.
Today, men and women have taken that role.
What a confused world.
What has happened to our reason?

There are no jobs,
yet more machines are created to replace the few that remain.

Have we not known?
Have we not learned?
Without unity,
without respect for one another,
there can be no true growth.

Unity and love are the basic requirements of true development.

INDUSTRY, INNOVATION & INFRASTRUCTURE

Have we not learned from our mistakes?

Have we not learned from our past?

The sun, earth, and moon are one.

The land, water, and air are one.

Without wisdom, knowledge, and understanding,
we cannot achieve stability.

It takes wisdom to know what to do.

It takes adequate knowledge of the earth to create in line with nature.

And it takes understanding to regulate the creation within the larger creation.

Imbalance brings destruction.

Learn from the earthquake.

Listen to the volcanoes.

Pay attention to the hurricane.

REDUCED INEQUALITY

Have you not heard?
Without air, there is no water.
Without water, there is no sand.
Imagine a world without a sun,
without a moon,
without you,
without me.

In life, balance is everything.
A little here, a little there.
Eating too much is bad;
not eating enough is terrible.
Too many sharks in the ocean leave no room for others to grow.

Let us build institutions.
Let us build organizations that ensure Mr. A is filled and Mrs. B is satisfied—not that Mr. C is overfilled

SUSTAINABLE CITIES & COMMUNITIES

We care for our faces more than our buttocks.

We take better care of what people see than what they don't.

We live for others,
not for ourselves.
But reality will set in.

One day,
the bottom will itch.
Then you will spend more time caring for the foundation.
Then you will understand:
without a buttocks to sit on,
there is no face to shine.

RESPONSIBLE CONSUMPTION & PRODUCTION

The Earth is our mother, and we are her children.

The mother cares for her children, but the children strive to suck their mother dry.

The chicken reproduces sporadically.

The hawk produces minimally.

Balance is attained when the hawk takes the chicks from the sporadic to feed the minimal.

Thus, balance is maintained.

Let us be calculative.

Let us encourage recycling.

Let us live moderately.

CLIMATE ACTION

Whatever you take into your body, your body gives out.

Garbage in, garbage out.

Have you not learned?

The Earth is a machine that recycles everything.

Be warned:

one day, it will recycle you.

Treat the Earth as your own body.

Care for it as if your life depends on it—because truly,

it does.

LIFE BELOW WATER

Give respect where it is due.

Before you were,
they were.

Render unto Caesar what is Caesar's, and give respect where it is deserved.

If you are drunk,
do not go throwing stones
at glass houses.

Were they the ones
who bought you the strong drink?

Were they the ones
who told you to exceed your limit?

Be warned,
for water has power.

LIFE ON LAND

The land we stand upon is a god.
Out of it we came.
From it we are fed and sustained.
Upon it we live,
and into it
we will be laid to rest.

Let us be humble.
Let us appreciate all life brings forth.
Let us treat the land as gold,
and cherish its produce as fine wine.

PEACE, JUSTICE & STRONG INSTITUTIONS

I have a dream
where we all live in peace,
where we treat others as ourselves,
where the lion and the lamb lie together,
where oppression is unknown, and where we build institutions to serve humanity, animals, and the Earth.

PARTNERSHIPS FOR THE GOALS

Can the sun be visible in all countries at once?
Can the moon give light by itself?
The sun gives light by day,
the moon by night,
so no part is left in total darkness.

Have you not learned?
We are the light of the world.
Some of us are the sun,
some are the moon,
others are the stars.

Two heads are better than one.
A man cannot make a family without a woman.
I have a role to play.
You have a role to play.
We all have a role to play.

NIGERIAN MISS UNIVERSE

Your teeth are like stars, forming a rainbow arc.
Your tongue is like the national flag—
how I long to keep it still.
Your breath is like the scents of Eden;
how I long to dwell therein.
Your lips are like the gates of paradise;
let me in, so I can build my abode.
Your smile can heal my world.
Breathe on me, oh daughter of the earth.

---

I've been thinking.
I've been wondering about everything.
I smile, I chuckle.
I see a face in my mind.
I wonder.
My thoughts fly away.
I make my wishes
and continue counting the stars.

Snowy eyes, drizzling nose,

soaked palm,
footprints on the shore of the sea, staggering thoughts, stable mind.
The breeze blows fierce,
but my fantasy remains.

---

Standing in the dark,
searching for my shadow,
remembering the past,
I made a vow.
I taught myself
not to always skimp.
Now I'm here,
standing in the dark,
skimping myself.

---

Just at the moment
I had made myself believe that I was complete,
the first sight failed to convince,
because I was believing a lie.
The second became a fact:
it wasn't going to be true.
Now the third
wore my ego like a lion, but I can't hold on—the tug is stronger.

---

I have this block in my eyes;
I think only you can help me with it.
I know many things,
but I feel I'm naive about a lot.
Many words to be said.
Time and space are on the run.

I have a question:
Can you kiss a friend?

AFRICAN MISS CURVY

Please, cry.
Shed your sacred tears.
I will tell you a secret that your mother is hiding from you:
You are a goddess,
and your tears
can heal the world.

---

I want you to be drunk from my river of lust.
I want you to be drowned
in my ocean of love.
Because of you,
the Titanic will rise again.

Tell the world.
We will show them
what is called love.
With you,
lonely nights are over.
With you,
pain flees.
With you,

joy overflows.

With you,

I live.

All I have said is just a pinch of sand
by the shore of the sea.

I'll write your name on the sky,
and I will command the skies to shout it out.

I will turn rainwater purple
just for the world to know:
I love you in a royal way.

---

I wish to write more, but my hands are shaking.

I am drunken in love with you.
Your love is the fuel that ignites my heart.
It illuminates my thoughts.
It spurs my words.
Without you,
there would be no words.

BAFANA BAFANA CURVES

Breasts so big, ass too huge,
face so pretty—
pardon my manners.

Your prettiness
is embedded in the dexterity of your brain.

Your hugeness is the character of your heart.

Take me to paradise,
for your presence is magically enchanting.

The way she walks,
the way she smiles,
the way she does all that she does...

Her stares are the best;
her gaze makes me blush.
“Loving” her is an understatement.

I wish to give her a ring?

No, it's too common.

What about a flower?

She's not a white woman.

Okay, I will give her the iceberg in the ocean, because she keeps me on ice.

SOUTH AMERICAN LADY

“Papi, papi,” she screams,
her voice so gentle and soothing.
Her touch sends my thoughts into a whirlwind.

Eyeballs—
pure and bliss.
Your lips—
warm as summer.
Your tongue—soothing as ice.
Your breath kindles my fire,
and your hug,
cold as winter.

Come to me, my lady.
I have laid my bed
with purple velvet silk sheets from Dubai.
I have scattered fluffy, cushioned red pillows imported from Italy, surrounded by creamy-scented candles and toys hanging from every angle.
I have a confession to make before you come upon my altar of passion.

Know for sure that I am ruthless, and I won't stop until you find it hard to catch your breath.

I will give it to you again and again in extraordinary, multiple folds.

NORTH AMERICAN SWEET 16

Like a bird leaving the nest, so are your breasts—
standing firm and pointed.
Your very desires are beginning to awaken.
Has your heart begun to thirst for warmth?
In the cool of the night, while in the shower, you long for a man to gently fondle your soapy body.
As you clean up and lie on the bed,
a sudden cold engulfs you.
You desire a touch,
yet all you can find is a thick, warm blanket.
But as you look out the window,
you see a star winking at you.
A gentle voice whispers to your heart:
“Your Romeo will soon be here.”
Right in the center of America stands a tall sculpture, an image with distinctive meaning.
The statue stands strong and bright.
It stands tall.
When I grow up,
I will erect a statue.
It will be an image of you,
just because you brought me freedom.

EUROPEAN SENSATIONAL 21

As a captain throws the anchor on deck,
I throw my anchor into your very heart.

Setting my eyes on you is like beholding the sun at its rising.
Can I ever lose the thought of your smile?
Your stunning look is like glittering stones.

Oh, the fragrance of your presence is like the dew on a dry, scorched sand, sprinkled with vanilla paste.

Your breasts are fully grown, parting to the west and the east.
I stare at your oscillating buttocks
as you dance on the aisle, twerking to my heartbeat.
How I wish you were mine.
I know all eyes are on you,
but I will do all it takes to have you as mine.

---

ASIA SLIM POKE

Breasts so poky, ass so smashing,
face so pretty—
pardon my manners.
I just want you to know:
all eyes are on you.
Your prettiness, your cuteness, are attributes of your distinctive self.
Allow me into your paradise.
Your presence is more intoxicating than wine.

Hello, baby.
I will be going for a long time, and I won't be back until after
a very long time.
But I promise to give you an overdose tonight that will last you
a very long time.

RUSSIA STALLION

As you lay on the bed,
I stare and wonder
at the beauty bestowed on you.
The breath from your nostrils is so peaceful.
Your face looks so radiant.
I can't help but stare as I gaze gently at you.
I feel deeply relaxed.

What I am looking for in my sleep is already by my side, and the privilege of you by my side is my greatest dream.

With you, I feel weak.
But this weakness is stronger than the strongest.
With you, I'm scared,
but this fear
can destroy a colony of lions.
You're a miracle
that I never expected, and you will always be a thanksgiving on my lips that I will always render.

I believed I was a superman, not until I set my eyes on you.
Then I knew what it truly means to be weak.
I believed I was complete,
not until you appeared in my world.
Then I understood the true meaning of a missing rib.
Giving you the world is nothing compared to giving you my heart, because my heart is the universe,
and you are the queen.

AUSTRALIA POLAR BEAR

Out of the desert,
a palm tree came forth.
Out of the scorching heat,
the palm leaves gave shade,
and the oasis gave comfort to my bosom's thirst.
I never knew I was this famished until I found you.
Your oil nuts gave me succor, and your water gave me life.

---

All day long,
I long for you.
From the rising of the sun to the going down of the same,
my desire waxes stronger,
like the currents of the sea.
What is it that I desire?
She's worth more than the choicest of jewels.
Gold is said to be wrapped in impurities,
but this gold has been through the fire.
If I have one wish,
it is to always have you as mine.

---

Don't be scared.
I repeat, don't be scared.
You haven't seen anything yet.
My love for you is like a forest whirlwind fire that won't consume you or blow you away, but will make you glow
and take you far above the skies.
All I want is to see you smile.
All I want is to see you shed tears of joy.
Thank God I found you.
You're the best I have ever had.

---

I wish to drop my pen,
but my heart keeps racing.
Please don't tell me to stop,
because my heart is not a car.
If it were,
I would have applied the brakes.
But only your wish is my command.

THE MIGHTY SHEPHERD

Those who know me call me
by my name, which I revealed to them.

I am known by many names,
depending on the nature of our meeting.

But to you,
I will reveal my name:
the Mighty Shepherd.

For I will comfort you with my rod and guide you with my staff.
I will lead you to abundant pastures,
and I will cause your rivers to flow.

They will make you forget the other shepherds' rods and staffs that formerly comforted you.

And I will totally purge you of the pastures you have been fed with.

BATTLEGROUND

Life is a two-dimensional battleground:
the battle that saps energy,
and that which replenishes.

The struggle to make a mark in life is a consistent fight that drains me, but the wrestling to make love to you is what revitalizes.

I long to fulfill my purpose,
but in your arms
is the energy that helps me overcome Jericho's walls.

THE TREE OF KNOWLEDGE

Stepping into my home,
the entire atmosphere changed—consciously and unconsciously.

I became startled.

Suddenly,
the light came on,
the fan began to whirl,
tick-tock, tick-tock,
the stereo came to life
as it began to whir.

Speechless I was,
not knowing what to do.
All that I could think of
was to stretch my arm.

I plucked the fruit
from the tree of knowledge, and I began to eat.

When she left,
she took my breath away.

I was left empty.
I scrambled for life;
all I could find was a pinch.
She had taken almost all.
I went on my knees

as I begged for life.
I heard a voice:
“Arise, take your life back.”
I was restored.
I was happy.
I promised not to ever do it again.

It was raining heavily.
Keeping warm by the burner,
I heard a knock on my door.

It was her—
the tree of knowledge.
She was soaked.
She was shaking.
I had compassion on her;
I let her in.

In my closet,
she found cover.
In my arms,
she found warmth.
We both lay together
as the night passed by.
I could not sleep.
Deep down inside me,
I knew I had messed up again.

Still sobbing,
I heard a voice:

“Be strong,
for a man’s strength is Beauty, and a man’s weakness is Temptation.”

So I took her to the altar, planted her in my house,
and made her a Tree of Life.

Thus,
I eliminated Temptation...Weakness, for I had possessed...
Strength and Beauty.

SOLOMON

I had a closed-door meeting with Solomon.
He said, whispering,
“If I had known of the beauty of this age,
I would have requested to live
in this time and space, for a lady of this generation is worth a thousand in my time.”

I remember I once said,
“There is nothing new under the sun,”
but now I know better.
Even the sun comes out brand new every morning.

ANCIENT TREES

Silver or gold,
I have none.

All I have are fine flowers, plucked from ancient trees.

Your beauty so rare,
your fragrance so scarce,
your thoughts so distinguished.

Let me tell you a secret:
ancient flowers are expensive, far above the worth of silver,
even above gold.
So stay faithful,
and be strong.

Who can tell of your beauty?
Who can tell of your grace?
Only a man—
old but young,
filled with understanding,
sitting under the oak tree.

Even the women of Sheba are nothing to compare.

So tell me, what do you see?

I see a phenomenon
that's rare.

It's a rainbow moon
that comes out once in a millennium.

Who can fathom it?

Who can decipher it?

Only a man
who is illuminated, who is truly in love.

INNERMOST EXPRESSION

I don't know how to say this.
Nevertheless, I will just say it.
I hope you understand.

While the gift of singing was distributed,
I was busy writing.
Though I long to sing for you,
my voice is all cracked up.
Still, I try to put this together.

I am deeply sorry for not saying the things I'm meant to say, for not doing the things I'm meant to do.
Several times I pick up the phone to call,
but really,
I don't know what to say or how to say it.

I have a whole lot that I wish to say,
but truthfully,
I don't have the strength to say it.
Saying "I love you" makes me feel cold.
I really wish you could understand the energy behind me saying this.

You know I love you.
Though I'm caught up in the world of social media,

I am more awakened to the fact that I really do treasure you.

I casually call you "pretty" because describing the way you look is beyond my grasp.

But the thought of you is as smooth as silk,
as sweet as banana-flavored ice cream.
The feeling is like spreading margarine on a slice of bread.

I call you "Mama,"
for in your arms I have found comfort,
because your bosom is warm as Eden's.

My love,
give me the keys to your heart.
Let me make my abode there,
for surely I will keep watch over it.

I can't make promises,
'cause I'm only human.

But this feeling is immortal.

I hope you like this,
'cause it's straight from my heart.

BLIND

Though I'm filled with eyes, yet I can't see.
Teach me to know your every impulse.
Humbly will I learn the technicalities of your nature,
for I long to be involved in your exponential equation.

Love is the most beautiful thing.
It's also the ugliest.
I realized that love is an act and an art, superlatively complicated.
I am just a suckling babe with a simple mind.

She said, "You're mad."
I said, "I'm crazy."
She said, "What's the difference?"
I said, "I'm innovative."

THE OVERFLOW

My queen,
I have come to your castle to please you.

Lead me through your secret tunnel.

Take me like a baby to your treasury.

Lead me by the hand to your abyss.

Let me power your fountain.

I want to experience your overflow.

ADAM TO EVE

Oh beautiful lady, second to none,
Your smiles are the stings of the Sahara scorpion.
Your looks are like the claws of a bear.
Who can behold your face,
O daughter of the serpent?

Your touch sets fire coursing through my veins.
The very thought of you is like the chorus of birds singing in the morning.

Your sting has made me whole.
The scars from it have made me stronger,
and the fire in my veins no one can extinguish.

EVE TO ADAM

Excelling in wisdom, filled with knowledge, wearing the cloak of understanding, and abounding in strength—come unto me

as the night comes to the day.

Let me feel the warmth of your embrace.

Take me on a journey to no destination,
to an island of ecstasy.

Sacrifice me on the altar of passion.

Let me not lose sight of you.

Stay close to me as the very breath from my nostrils, for I desire your illumination.

SEEDS OF JEZEBEL

Oh, the adornment is too good to behold:
the lashes of the eyes,
the paintings on the eyelids,
the shades on the cheeks,
the blood on the lips,
the earrings on your ears,
the studs on your nose.
But none can replace that fresh look when you wake up in the morning.
It reveals your true self.
It shows your perfection.
This is better to behold.

---

DAUGHTER OF DELILAH

She whispered into my ears,
"Tell me the secret of your power."

I smiled.

She said, "So you don't trust me?"

I smiled.

She said, "So you can't tell me your secret?"

I smiled and answered,

"Once bitten, twice shy.

My power is in my hair."

She said, "But you're bald."

I said, "That's the secret.

I have an invincible source."

SEX

Sex is warfare between two (or more) persons.
In this battle, the strong succumb to the stronger.

The stronger possesses the strong and uses them for advantage—knowingly or not.

I advise you:
be the stronger.

If you wish to remain strong, ensure you are possessed by a POSITIVELY STRONGER PERSON.

A PERFECT RELATIONSHIP

Is there such a thing as a perfect relationship?

Consider the root:

Is our environment perfect?

Are our institutions—political, economic, social—perfect?

Your honest answer defines the topic.

We live amid imperfection.

Any practiced perfection crumbles under the pressure of time and circumstance.

Imperfection is the order of the day;
perfection seems abnormal.

Thus, there are no perfect relationships—only UNDERSTANDING RELATIONSHIPS.

Often, understanding equals perfection, especially when you grasp the difficult conditions shaping your spouse's choices.

UNDERSTANDING WOMAN

Understanding women means understanding their form (physiology) and likeness (psychology).

Women are intricately sensitive, utterly delicate beings.

You cannot be with a woman without deep knowledge of her nature.

Think of handling an egg:
with too much pressure, you crush it;
too little, and it slips away.

The balance is to neither crush nor lose it.
It requires constant, gentle adjustment.

Given this complexity,
one must become a mathematician.

The almighty formula is:

Wisdom + Knowledge = Understanding.

Wisdom brings patience.

Knowledge reveals her personality.
Together, they build the foundation,
the building blocks, the very pillars of a marriage and a successful home.

Yes, men can be complicated.

But a woman's complexity is of an absolutely encompassing degree.

Women are the strands that bind the earth.

Let us learn to deal with them through wisdom and knowledge, so we may gain understanding and fulfill the Creator's command:
to increase, multiply, subdue, replenish,
and have dominion.

Believe this:
no man attains dominion
without a woman's help.

EGOISTICAL

A wise author once said,
“Whatever my eyes desired, I gave it.”
Selfishness. Self-centeredness. Self, self, and self—this virus is destroying us, our nation, our continent, our world.
We seek only bodily gratification with little concern for others.

This explains much of the failure in our relationships.
We desire something intensely,
but once we possess it,
we begin to dislike it.

The reality is this:
a relationship must be well-defined before it begins.

A memorandum of understanding should always be established, ensuring a second thought—the consideration of the other—is given full attention.

Let us walk the land,
sail the sea,
and levitate in the air
together, in understanding.

EGOISTICAL 2

Love of self is essential.

It lets you take pride in yourself, to care for and believe in yourself before others can believe in you.

But moderation is key:
too much or too little is harmful.

We can achieve great things alone, but we can achieve greater things together.

Togetherness, relationship, love—
these are beautiful.

They bring joy, which lasts.
Self-centeredness brings only happiness, which cannot withstand time.

EGOISTICAL SATISFACTION

Everyone needs love.
There is a specific degree of care
each person requires.
Once that degree is reached,
they repel the rest.
If it is not reached,
they hunt for it
like a hungry lion for food.

Discover one another's love limits,
and you will have a great relationship.

Everyone is born of flesh and blood.
Flesh and blood are inherently selfish;
we all pursue personal desires.
It is not wrong to pursue them,
but it is wrong to do so at another's expense.

RESPECT IS RECIPROCAL

There is a respect a man shows a woman.
If she does not reciprocate,
she no longer deserves it.

There is a respect a woman shows a man.
If he does not reciprocate,
he no longer deserves it.

This law applies to every form of human association.

L. OAK

She asked,
“How old are you?”
I answered, “Six thousand and above.”
“Unbelievable,” she said.
“You cannot be as old as the earth.”
“That’s the point,” I replied.
“I am the earth.”
“It can’t be,” she exclaimed.
I answered, “I am an illusion.
You are in me,
yet you can see me.”

COMPLETELY BROKEN

I have seen mothers stand by their children even unto death.

But I was betrayed from the very first day.

Sometimes I wonder how I survived.

Then I discovered:

I am too filled with love to fall into hate.

Who do you think you are,
that you can break my heart?

My heart was shattered to crumbs at birth, and I watched as ants carried the pieces in every direction.

I laugh at every moment.

I cry at every opportunity.

I have lost my mind
to the wave of the Spirit.

The joy of the Lord is my peace;
the pain of the Lord, my turbulence.

Save me from my flesh, O Creator.

Life is difficult to bear.

I have cried a river, yet all I desire is to be a vessel that carries Your burden.

My tears are warm,
my pains are deep.
In Your presence, they vanish.
By Your Spirit, I am strengthened.
Sometimes you must understand how the old think and how the young reason.
Life has two parts:
the old and the young.
To understand both
is to achieve balance.
Without both,
there is no balance.
Everything is a test.
Every challenge,
every situation,
is a trial
for a higher calling, a greater level,
a better place.

SWEETNESS

The power of love is the love of power.

The power of hate is the love for power.
In love, we find power;
in power, we find hate.

Honey is sweet.
Sugarcane is sweet.
But let me show you something better.

The tongue holds taste buds to tell sweet from bitter.
But true sweetness is felt by all five senses.

The body is an electrolyte that conducts heat.

The eyes see the object.
The ears hear the sound sweetness makes.
The nose draws you near.
So now you understand:
better than sweet
is what you can feel, see, smell, hear, and taste.

I confess to you today:
I can feel your charms,
see your beauty,
smell your scent,
hear your voice.
I have not tasted your sweetness yet,
but the expectation is clear.

Conclusion:

The words of men are just words;
they wash away with time.
But the voice of the Almighty is a fire that burns wider and higher.

SELF CONTROL

The thought of you
is like ice cream melting on my hand.
The temptation to lick it is overwhelming.

I behave.
I control myself.
I act maturely.
But deep down,
I want to taste every drop... to love you like a fountain that never runs dry.

If you are surprised,
if you wonder why,
if you seek the reason—the truth is,

your rhythm is an anthem that energizes me
to pursue,
to overtake,
and to possess all of you.

I am listening to a song right now, “Heya” by Brymo, and your thought flashes through my mind:

your playful nature,
your ever-smiling face.

You have been through a lot,
but remember:
the night lasts only a while.
For it is most definitely,
very assuredly—
in King James words—“joy cometh in the morning.”

Stay strong.
Let your thoughts be steady.
Meditate and be devoted.
I see a whirlwind gathering momentum to carry you beyond what you felt was impossible.

UNRELENTING PURSUIT

If you feel dejected, when you feel rejected,
know this: there is a home where you will always be accepted.

It was never about the sex,
but the virtue in the destiny that makes you want to rescue humanity.
It was never about the booty or the boobs,
but the heart and the mind.

This is not a poem.
This is a word from my heart to you.

HEART THROB

Baby, be patient with me.
I will love you
like fire loves dry wood.
I will savor you
as a dog savors a bone.
And I will wait for you as the desert waits for rain.

ILLUSION

Anything can be nothing, and nothing can be everything.
The earth was created from nothing to become everything, while remaining, in essence, nothing.

ANOTHER SOUP

The day, the hour, the minute, the second your husband tastes another soup on another woman's lap...

Will he sleep?

Where a man sleeps,
there he finds comfort.
Where he is comfortable,
there he will copulate.

Where he copulates,
there he invests.

Where he invests,
there he makes his home.

THE COCK & THE DOG

A cock knows its destiny;
so does a dog.

The cock is a timekeeper,
the dog, a gatekeeper.
But man, created for dominion, is negligent and dull.

A cock knows when to crow.
A dog knows when to bark.
But man does not know when to wake or when to sleep.

Men are dead to nature,
alive only to religion.
In nature we find perfection—
the strength to discover destiny.
Religion is weakness.
Nature is spirituality.
Spirituality gives us strength to become who we are.
If you cannot tune into nature,
you are dead.

The cock says:
Arise and align with purpose.

The dog says:
Watch, for you know not when the enemy comes.

Therefore,
a cock that does not crow
does not deserve to eat.

A dog that sleeps will be woken by hunger.

My brother, hustle.

My brother, watch.

I WILL BE BACK

I am going to prepare a place worthy of you and me—
a place where I can have you all to myself, a honeymoon that never ends.

Do not hurry.
I will return soon.
Answer no stray man,
for I am a jealous one.
When I finally come,
you will be glad you waited patiently.

Wait for me.
I will be back.
